Peace Delegates Trying To Set Buffer Zone, End War

By William Jorden

Munsan, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Map-charting Red and Allied officers still were up to five miles apart today on a Korean cease-fire line — while soldiers afield fought fiercely to change it in the west.

U. N. and Communist staff officers met at Panmunjom at 10 a.m. (8 p.m. Saturday, E.S.T.) to iron out minor mapping differences in the mountainous east and major differences in the west.

The task of mapping the line where the shooting might stop in 30 days may have to be taken over before the day's end by the joint subcommittees, who have more leeway.

The battle for "Little Gibraltar," a key height near Yonchon may figure in the delay at agreement on just where the "line of contact" is. The army newspaper Stars and Stripes called the hill "Armistice Heights."

Once during Saturday's session, Red claims of a hill in the east promoted an Allied telephone call to the front. Americans on the hill were reported "highly insulted" by the Red claim.

Other Red claims of positions behind Allied outposts brought an offer by the Allies to fly them over the positions to look. The Reds said no.

There was near agreement on the eastern half of the 145 - mile front, an Allied spokesman said. But he

LOCAL SHOPPERS GET CASH GIFTS

Two Thousand Dollars To Be Given Away By Monroe Merchants

Monroe's merchants will begin this week giving their Christmas presents to shoppers in North Louisiana in the form of cash, it was announced Saturday by David C. Silverstein, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants Division.

In the biggest promotion ever undertaken by Monroe's retailers, nearly two thousand dollars will be given away to shoppers between now and Christmas, Silverstein added.

Beginning Wednesday, November 28, and the Wednesdays thereafter, shoppers may register in any of the stores participating in the event, without having to make any purchase. All is required is that a shopper sign a slip giving his name and address and drop the slip in the box provided in each store for that purpose. The next morning, all slips will be gathered and two names will be selected, each of whom will receive a check for $100. Following the awarding of the prizes, all slips will be destroyed, and everyone will have an opportunity to register again the following Wednesday when two more checks for $100 will be given away.

The week before Christmas, registrations will be made from Monday through Saturday, December 17 to 22, for the grand prize of $1,000. The winner of the $1,000 grand prize will be selected Monday, December 24, and will be announced on Christmas Day in the newspapers and over the radio. Winners each week will also be announced in the papers and over the radio, in addition to which all will be notified by letter.

It is not necessary for a purchase to be made before one may register, Silverstein emphasized, and the winner does not have to be present when his name is selected. All retailers are anxious for as many shoppers as possible to take advantage of this Christmas gift, and they urge shoppers to visit Monroe on all registration days to get their names in the box.

Registrations may be made at the following stores, all of whom are cooperating to make this event possible: Baber's Sporting Goods & Appliance Store; Bodan's Rexall Drug; Brice's Super Markets; D & E Furniture Co.; Dew Music Co.; Dixie Shops; Field's; Fink's;

Still Dragging For Hodge Child

Monroe firemen last night went into their fourth day of almost continual dragging for the body of two-year-old Milas Hodge, who drowned Wednesday afternoon in Puckett Lake along with three other persons.

The bodies of the other three, James Bagwell, 37, Pauline Bagwell, ten, and Patricia Hodge, nine, were recovered the night of the drowning but the whereabouts of the young Hodge boy are still unknown.

The accident occurred at approximately 2:30 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, after Bagwell had returned from hunting and took the children for a boat ride.

Relatives, growing impatient with their delay in returning, went to search for them but found only the capsized boat.

Firemen were called to the scene and dragging operations began almost at once.

The body will be brought to Hall Funeral Home and services will be announced later.

An Associated Press dispatch from Colorado Springs, Colo., gave the following account of his death:

National Elections In Iran Asked By Premier

By Philip Clarke

Tehran, Iran, Nov. 24. —(AP)— The government of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh — rich in oil potential but hard up for cash—said today it would demand national elections immediately for a bold test of its popular strength.

The announcement came the day after the frail old premier returned to a whopping welcome home from 47 days spent abroad in efforts to get money and in defending his national oil policies.

The move to hold elections "at the first opportunity" was looked upon as a maneuver to capitalize on a wave of popular enthusiasm for Mossadegh's resistance to efforts in the United States to loosen up on his all-Iranian oil plans.

The crucial issue, however, is the low state of Iran's treasury, which misses the oil royalties paid for years by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian oil company.

On his request for a big U. S. government loan to tide Iran over until national oil production can return a profit, Mossadegh got nothing better than a promise of serious consideration after conferences in Washington with President Truman and others.

The demand for elections soon was posed as a challenge to a decision in the Majlis (lower house of parliament) on Oct. 15 to postpone the start of voting from Nov. 21 to Dec. 18.

It also apparently is designed to give the opposition less time to consolidate forces to unseat Mossadegh and to deprive the opposition of added time in the worsening financial crisis.

The campaign for early elections was announced by Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi, who went with Mossadegh on his trip abroad. On his return, the premier spent 5½ hours yesterday with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, and apparently got a royal go-ahead.

Fatemi made no suggestion at a special news conference as to

FOUR EGYPTIANS SLAIN IN FIGHT

Tommies Fire Upon Men Caught Cutting Barbed-Wire At Port Said

Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 24. —(AP)—The British announced today military guards killed four Egyptians and wounded another as they tried a swimming escape after being caught cutting barbed - wire around a munitions pier at Port Said.

The British announcement said the Egyptians yesterday ignored pier guards' commands to halt and jumped into the Suez canal basin, where they were shot. The bodies were recovered.

Egyptians killed since the mid-October outbreak of violence in the disputed canal zone now total 42 by unofficial count. Nine British military men have been killed.

The British, in a formal note to the Egyptian government, said the bloody battles at Ismailia last week end were touched off by the sudden awakening of a sleeping Egyptian policeman Saturday night.

Six British army officers, seven Egyptian policemen and an undetermined number of Egyptian civilians were killed in the violence that followed.

The British note rejected Egypt's declaration that the Ismailia fighting was brought on by British "criminal acts of aggression" against "the peaceful population and police officers in the canal zone."

The British said Egypt's version was "so entirely devoid of foundation" that their embassy felt obliged to "set forth the truth in detail."

The note said a British patrol in Ismailia about 10 p.m. last Saturday saw what appeared to be a body on the pavement.

"This proved to be a policeman lying asleep," the note said.

"On the approach of the patrol the policeman immediately awoke and started to run in panic for the police station, firing his rifle and shouting as he went. In spite of the

U. N. Decides Not To Shift Troops From East To West

By Arthur Gavshon

Rome, Nov. 24. — (AP) — Allied foreign ministers apparently have decided against switching troops from the Far East to the west even if a Korean armistice is signed, diplomatic sources said tonight.

These informants reported the north Atlantic treaty organization's council of ministers "seems to have agreed" there is no chance of moving the Korean-based forces to Europe in the absence of a general settlement in Asia with Red China and Russia.

The 12 NATO foreign ministers studied potential flashpoints of the international situation today. Informants said they concluded a global war will be avoided, at least in the immediate future.

Air Service To New York Claimed Near

One carrier plane service from Monroe to Washington, New York City and the New England states moved one step nearer to a reality this week following action by the Chamber of Commerce, according to G. L. Morgan, chairman of the Chamber's aviation committee.

The Chamber has filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board a petition requesting permission to become a party to the New England-Southern State Merger Investigation.

Among other things, this case involves the question of whether there should be a merger of Delta Air Lines with Northeast or Colonial Airlines, or with both, and the

L. T. I. Escapee Reported Nabbed

The second of two L. T. I. boys who escaped from the training institute early in the week was apprehended by Alexandria police yesterday. A. L. Swanson superintendent of L. T. I. left immediately after notification to bring the boy back to the state school.

Dempsey Marsh, 16, has been the object of a statewide search since his buddy was captured near Coushatta Thursday night after being injured in an automobile accident. Dempsey fled from the scene of the accident, but Huey Horn, 14, who suffered a broken hip and leg, was taken to the Shreveport Charity Hospital.

The two youths were reported to have stolen a Ford sedan belonging to J. R. Johnston, 109 North Third street in West Monroe, and driven to Ruston, where they abandoned the car and, authorities said, they took another car which they wrecked near Coushatta.

NEGOTIATORS AGREE ON TRUCE LINE

Rep. Rogers Demands Truman's Explanation

Washington, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The "errors and contradictions" and the "botched handling" of the Korea atrocity charges demand a complete statement of facts from President Truman, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R.-Mass.) declared today.

"The president owes the parents of our servicemen a clear and unmistakable statement of the facts at the earliest moment," she said.

Mrs. Rogers' statement was prompted by the disclosure last night that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had reported to the United Nations as early as Nov. 12 that his headquarters had received and was investigating reports that 8,000 American prisoners of war had been put to death by their Communist captors.

On Nov. 14 Col. James M. Hanley of the eighth army's war crimes section announced that 5,500 American prisoners had been slaughtered after capture.

Four days later Hanley's announcement was a confirmed in part by Gen. Ridgway in a statement that gave no estimated number, however, and deplored the method Hanley used in making his figures public.

Still later — only four days ago —Ridgway said there was considerable evidence that 6,000 American captives had been put to "death by atrocity" but "no conclusive evidence" as to the actual number.

"The appalling aspect of this sequence of events is the fact that the American people are under the impression that they are being hoodwinked and deceived," Mrs.

United States Charges Soviet Fighters With Attacking Bomber 'Without Warning' Over Free International Waters November 6

Washington, Nov. 24. — (AP) — The United States charged today that a missing navy Neptune bomber was "attacked without warning" by Soviet fighter planes over the free international waters of the Sea of Japan on Nov. 6. The plane with ten men aboard is presumed to have been shot down.

In making this formal accusation in a report to the United Nations, the United States rejected as untrue a Russian complaint that the American aircraft had "violated the Soviet state frontier" before it was approached by two Russian fighter planes. The Russians also alleged that the American plane opened fire first.

In the conflicting versions of the affair made public today, about the only thing the United States and Russia agreed on was that apparently the incident had occurred in the general vicinity of Cape Ostrovnaya, about 80 miles east of the big Soviet Siberian port city of Vladivostok and across the Sea of Japan from the northern Japanese Island.

State department officials said that there was supporting evidence for the American assertion that the plane was attacked over the open sea without having in any way violated Russian territory. But they declined to say what this evidence was on the ground that it was information classified secret by the defense department. There was some speculation, however, that the plane's position at the time of the attack had been tracked by radar, either land or sea based.

The official United States report on the incident was made not to the Soviet government at Moscow, which had filed on Nov. 7 a protest against the alleged order violation, but to the United Nations' secretary general, Trygve Lie, at the UN general assembly meeting in Paris.

The state department explained that this was the proper procedure because the plane was operating as part of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's UN Korean command. The United States had already refused because of this fact to accept the Russian protest note on any basis other than as a matter of information.

From this it appeared, and officials here so stated, that no formal reply will be made to the Russian charge. How or whether claims may be made against the Soviets because of the loss of the two-engine bomber and presumably the lives of its ten crewmen is a question which the state department professed to be unable to answer today.

The Soviet version of the aerial clash was set forth in Russia's November 7 note which Deputy Foreign Minister Andre Gromyko pre-

First the money must be provided and second homes must be investigated and the clothing, food and toys purchased to make Christmas the great day it should prove when all men should be imbued with a great Christmas spirit.

We are thankful that we have a total of $176 in the Good Fellows fund. This is only a start but much more is expected to come from many sources. Usually we get as much as $3,000 each year and this sum is needed to make the rounds. We probably shall need much more than this for the present holiday season.

Today we give recognition to a fine donation of $25 in memory of Lt. Cramer Haas and $10 from

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Two persons were hurt in an automobile accident 11 miles south of Monroe on highway 165 late Friday night, state police reported.

Injured were W. M. Richard, 59, of Ferriday, who suffered a forehead laceration and hip injury and Clarence D. Brown, 31, 707 Phillip street, West Monroe, who also received a scalp laceration.

Both men were taken to E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital for treatment.

State police said the accident occurred when a 1949 International truck driven by Joe Willis, 30, Negro, Bosco, who was traveling north attempted to make a left turn and was hit by a 1951 Plymouth driven by Brown.

Investigating troopers said both vehicles were traveling north and Brown's car skidded 90 feet after the brakes were applied.

Neither of the two were believed seriously injured.

AMNESIA VICTIM REUNITED WITH FAMILY AFTER SIX YEARS

David Yerke, 28, had cause for a real Thanksgiving as he is reunited with his wife, Douglas, and his daughter, Sharon, 6, after six dark years as an apparent amnesia victim. The strange story started in Tarpon Springs, Fla., when Yerke disappeared from his boat on a sponge-fishing expedition. He was presumed lost overboard and drowned. Yerke was working in New Orleans when a slight paralytic stroke somehow cracked the shell of amnesia. He phoned his father in Detroit who then notified Douglas. Still suffering from the strain, Yerke is unable to recall the six years of his life. (AP Wirephoto.)

School Construction

The disastrous fire which destroyed the new $180,000 addition to Sherrouse school Monday night points out the fact that perhaps other schools of this type being built under the expansion program of the parish and city school boards might suffer similar fate.

Two days after the Sherrouse school addition was destroyed, two reporters of the Morning World visited six schools being constructed by the two school systems. Some of these schools have been completed and are now being occupied while others are nearing completion.

In visiting the schools we noted a striking similarity between the new Ouachita parish buildings and the addition to Sherrouse. These new schools look pleasing to the eye particularly in comparison with the old structures, but both from a standpoint of permanency and fire hazards, we doubt the soundness of such construction. It was noted that the parish schools visited were all of frame construction, brick veneered and of plywood interior finish, as was Sherrouse school.

It has been our contention in the past and remains so today that solid brick masonry construction is cheaper in every way in the long run. For instance, the difference in insurance premiums would mean a savings of thousands of dollars over a period of years, which is the "life expectancy" of these buildings which are being constructed under present plans.

We would like to know how many of these new Ouachita parish and city school buildings are of the same construction as the new addition to Sherrouse school that burned "like a shack" within a few hours time last week.

We were pleased to learn that the West Monroe High School will be of solid brick and masonry steel construction, as will be the city colored high school now being erected in Booker T. Washington addition and other city school projects.

With this recent misfortune at Sherrouse, we are reminded of the Ouachita parish school board's letter printed in the Morning World of November 18 which pointed out that "the school building program will be completed essentially as planned, even though construction costs have risen from $7.50 per square foot to $10 a square foot"—an increase of 33 1/3 per cent.

Since the building program can be completed essentially as planned even though construction costs have risen 33 1/3 per cent, it is evident that the bond issue was 33 1/3 per cent too high—not two per cent, five per cent or even ten per cent, but 33 1/3 per cent too high.

If only for the above reasons, we do not believe that the Ouachita parish school board's building program is being carried out to the best interest of the citizens and children of Ouachita parish nor do we believe that the taxpayers of the parish are receiving dollar for dollar value in the new school facilities, as some others of the board have stated.

God And Caesar—Tithing

The recent magnificent accomplishment of the First Baptist Church of Monroe in raising $97,000 in one day points up the fact that there are many liberal givers in the churches here.

Those who really are the financial backbone of the churches are people who pour one-tenth of their income into church work. One tither may give more money in a year than half a dozen other persons of similar income who think they are fairly liberal givers. If a worker receives $60 a week and pays a tenth of it into church work, he will contribute $6 a week, $26 a month or $312 a year. At that rate, 100 persons would contribute $31,200 a year and 1,000 persons would contribute $312,000. Money mounts up fast that way.

In the Bible, Jesus says "Render unto Caesar the things that belong to Caesar and unto God the things that belong to God."

This brings up the question of just how a person shall begin in figuring his tithe, which might be as complicated as figuring income tax and might bring a large number of different results from people receiving the same income, since all do their own figuring, instead of having a revenue agent figure it, as does Uncle Sam.

Since the Bible says render unto Caesar the things that are his, presumably the earner has the right to render unto Uncle Sam the things that are his (or what he takes) before beginning to figure his net gross income. The earner never sees the withholding tax, doesn't get it and has no choice in its expenditure, so it is not part of his net gross income. Therefore, he has a right to figure his income as the amount he actually gets, or his take-home pay.

On the other hand, although Uncle Sam will still take a big cut out of the income in the way of taxes on nearly anything the earner may buy, the earner has a choice in the way he spends the money he actually receives and must count it as net gross income, since it might be possible to buy only articles that are not taxed, such as sweet potatoes from a farmer.

But there are also different ways of figuring the tithe after the net gross income has been decided upon. One man figures the $53 he has left after taxes belongs as a whole to him, his wife and their two children. He pays 10 per cent of his net gross to the church, pays his bills (if possible) with the rest and then divides up what is left (if any) among himself, his wife and their children, according to each one's allowance. They have paid their tithe on the income that belongs to them jointly. Another man with the same income pays his 10 per cent to the church and gives his wife an allowance, out of which she gives the children an allowance. The wife pays 10 per cent of what she receives to the church and the children, who have received from her, pay 10 per cent of what they get.

These things being true, no church, as far as we know, has ever fixed a rigid rule for determining what is 10 per cent of a person's net gross, although there are several denominations which do make the payment of tithe a condition of good standing in membership.

There are some people who feel that anything contributed in the name of God, to relieve the suffering of humanity, may be counted as tithe, since the Bible mentions paying into the storehouse of the Lord. Others think that tithe must be paid directly into the church of which one is a member.

Several differences are found between tithing and in taxes assessed by Uncle Sam.

The government allows a mininum on which no tax is required, varying in recent years from $500 to $600 for each person, whereas tithe is figured on all net gross income.

Uncle Sam also allows ministers exemption on residences provided free of charge by the church people, although the amount for which this building would rent is income and the government taxes anyone except a minister for income of this kind. Since Bible statements on tithing say nothing about exempting any portion of anyone's income, the minister must figure the yearly rental value of his income, if he receives it free, when he figures his tithe.

On the other hand, there are many ministers who pay a tenth of their gross salary as tithe, when actually they are entitled to make deductions for expenses in paying tithe, just as they do in paying income tax. They are required to pay a tithe only on the net gross income, including gifts.

One minister once asked the church to raise his salary from $300 to $330, stating that he needed $300 to live on and that he did not have that much after paying his tithe. He received the increase, but he still did not have quite $300 to live on, since, after his salary advanced to $330, he had to pay $33 a month on tithe.

Uncle Sam tells each person just how much he has to pay, but those who pay their tithe to God have to deal with their consciences, as they adopt their own system of figuring what amount they must pay tithe on.

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

COOPERATION

My friend, Rabbi Joshua L. Goldberg, has recently been appointed a captain in the navy of the United States. Of course, captains are often appointed for the navy, but not in the chaplain corps. This particular one is of the American saga.

Joshua Goldberg was born in Bobrouisk, a small town of southern Russia, into a middle class Jewish household. He was reared in religious orthodoxy and in the spirit of his people, studying in Odessa and Tel Aviv.

In 1916 he came to the United States and enlisted in the army in World War I. Because he knew no English, he was regarded as ignorant, possibly illiterate; that, despite the fact that he knows many European and ancient languages. English he learned in army barracks from soldiers and books.

After World War I Joshua Goldberg went to college and studied to be a rabbi. He was called to pulpits and he engaged in communal activities until World War II faced this country. He was the first rabbi to enlist as a naval chaplain in that war. For about 10 years now he has devoted his life to the United States navy.

There are many chaplains in the army and the navy, but none like Josh, as everybody calls him. He knows no other life. He has no other interest. When the war was over, most chaplains in the naval reserve returned to their congregations, but Josh continued in the navy.

It had never before happened that a rabbi was made the chief chaplain of a naval district, but the time came when Catholics and protestants demanded a recognition of Joshua Goldbergs untiring and selfless services, and so he was appointed chief chaplain of the third naval district, which embraces New York, Connecticut, and the upper half of New Jersey.

The motto of the navy's chaplain corps is "cooperation without compromise." This slogan could be translated into "we all work together but hold on to our own." Perhaps in no military service have the men of God come so close to each other, despite differences in creed and ritual, as in the United States navy.

A spirit of understanding and tolerance moves these men to work together, stimulating a respect for American ideals. It is not a matter of routine; it is a uniting in a common cause; it is an anxiety to breathe into the boys the holy spirit of faith in God and love of country so that when their tour of service is ended, their sense of duty continues.

When it is realized that Rabbi Joshua Goldberg has only been an American since he enlisted in World War I, it is an astonishing fact that he has spent nearly a dozen years in the military service of his adopted country. And in that devotion, he has contributed amply to the development of the cooperative genius of the chaplain corps.

In fact, only by a recognition of the importance of the futility of compromise can cooperation be achieved. For only men of principle, of tradition, of sureness of credo can work together in idealism without lowering themselves to the least common denominator.

Instead, such men choose the noblest in their own disciplines as the goal for life and work. They aim not at a levelling down but raise their sights to the heights of God's laws of life.

Thus a rabbi can read the services of the Roman Catholic Church to a boy dying not alone but in the company of a man devoted to the God of all men; thus a protestant may read in translated Hebrew the prayers that can alone heal the wounds of fear; thus each gives what is needed without giving up what to him seems essential.

A captaincy in the navy is a high honor. Only 18 chaplains are captains; only two are rear admirals. For a rabbi to have achieved this rank is an honor to all Jews and to America. It is something that the Voice of America can proudly blare to all Europeans, for it shows that in this country achievement knows no racial or religious difference.

The opportunity for rewards should in this country always be open to those who have accepted the opportunity to serve. This promotion will be an encouragement to others to realize that ours is neither a forgetful nor an ungrateful republic. We sometimes act as though we are both forgetful and ungrateful, but in time the American heart exhibits its warmth and its regard for those who truly love America.

BIBLE THOUGHTS:

Do therefore according to thy wisdon, and let not his hoarhead go down to the grave in peace.—I. Kings 2:6.

Sow the seeds of life — humbleness, pure-heartedness, love, and in the long eternity which lies before the soul, every minutest grain will come up again with an increase of thirty, sixty, or a hundredfold. —F. W. Robertson.

War is never lenient but where it is wanton; where men are compelled to fight in self-defense, they must hate and avenge. This may be bad, but it is human nature; it is the clay as it came from the hands of the Potter.—Macaulay.

The Broadway Line

British critics who walloped "South Pacific" (in London) grumbled that U. S. reviewers dislike What-Ho performers. What beastleh rot. American critics have always serenaded the Oliviers, the Rex Harrisons, Gertrude Lawrence and Beatrice Lillie to name a few . . . If acting is your dish, you will find caviar in "The Browning Version" film. A cast of dazzlers . . . The Museum of Modern Art is giving a deserved reprise to movies starring Sarah Bernhardt. Gamuting was never grander . . . Another drama that clicked in a Summer circuit temple was a Broadway cluck — "Dinosaur Wharf," which perished after a 48-hour run . . . The Stem's picture marathon champ is "Tales of Hoffmann," now in its 35th week . . . In the coming cinema, "Phone Call from a Stranger," Bette Davis doesn't appear on the screen until it is two-thirds over . . . Have a slice of ham: Mario Lanza purchased a story titled: "Mario, the Great."

Hollywood reports that "I'll See You In My Dreams," the Danny Thomas starrer, is so good it will play the Music Hall here around Yuletide . . . John McClain takes over the drama critic spot at the Journal-American Dec. 10th when he returns from his honeymoon with "Mousie" Farr of the lorgnette division . . . That girl walking three white French poodles along 5th Avenue is songstress Cathy Mastice. The fur on their backs is trimmed to spell: "Longing for You," the title of her latest RCA-Victor platter . . . The lad in the romantic singing role of Magic Melody," the Yiddish operetta (at the Public Theater downtown) is J. Timothy Barber, an Irishman . . . Teddy and Phyllis Rodriguez open at the Waldorf the 29th . . . Robert Weber, a comparatively unknown thesp, inherited the lead opposite Paulette Goddard in her next film, to be kodak'd in Spain.

Columbia is rushing "Death of a Salesman" into the Victoria Theater to be a candidate for the Movie Critic Awards . . . Toni Arden's brother Janis rated highly by Tune Pan Alleyites. He opens soon at the Mocambo in Hollywood . . . F. Hugh Herbert, author of the hit, "The Moon Is Blue," and Cole Porter are collabbing on "Can Can," a new musical (on the coast) for next season . . . The Blue Angel cast is one of its best. Kirkwood and Goodman, Trenet and a chirper named Annette Warren . . . William Free, who produced a tv film (about narcotics), auditioned hundreds of actresses for the dope addict and none of them impressed. Finally gave the assignment to his talented wife.

Ethel Merman waited at LaGuardia Airport for a plane bringing a favorite friend the other noontime. Just a couple of hours before curtain time at "Madam." He's the Colorado mint we itemed about weeks ago . . . The ballet thrown out of "Top Banana" after the Boston tryout sounds intristing: Depicted the plight of a nude girl with a checkbook in a dept store . . . Frances Henaghan, bride of writer, phoned a friend making a personal appearance here. Frances told the theatre operator: "If she's on stage, please don't disturb her!" . . . Teevy isn't the monster the crepe-hangers would have you believe. It is revealed there are more movie theatres than in 1945, the pre-teevy era . . . The New Yorker's opinion of "Quo Vadis"—"an overstuffed sausage."

Remember the quip: "Sex is the poor man's polo"? Well, it's encored in "Top Banana." . . . Jerry Lewis' recording of "I Like Girls" lacks his customary shot of funicillin. . . , Observation: Film reviewers were more impressed by the scenery in "Quo Vadis" than the script. It is based on a Nobel prize winning novel. . . . Eddie Cantor has a brief sermon in the Dec. Ladies Home J. He reveals that instead of the usual "God help me," he says: "God let me help you." Sammy Kaye's recording of "Bouquet of Roses" is a schmaltz festival. (He means sentimental corn). . . . John van Druten's play, "I Am a Camera," isn't the only one with a bizarre title. There's another called "Ivory, Apes and Peacocks." That's a Biblical quote. . . . That midtown theatre which features Russian made flickers currently has one glorifying slave laborers. . . . "Fixed Bayonets" was named "Old Soldiers Never Die" until the phrase lost its time value.

Recording firms generally press songs without much premeditation, but the stepsister in this operation is the song that goes on the back of the "hit." . . . Oft-times, the apple cart is overthrown. . . . Take Bob Hillard's experiences. He was rated "lucky" when he got his "Dear Hearts and Gentle People" on the back of "Mule Train," a red hot pet. . . . "Dear Hearts," however, is still selling while "Mule" went limp months ago. . . Hilliard had another hit tilt with Dame Fortune when his "Dearie" was back of "I Said My Pyjamas." The "Dearie" ditty is still going good and "Pyjamas" is in the laundry. . . . "The Things We Did Last Summer" got the Go Light, and his "Coffee in Brazil" got second spot but became the hit. . . . The recent "Wondrous Words of the Lord" found Bob's "Shanghai" going along for the ride. . . . But the weak sister is carrying the load.

Memo From Girl Friday: Besides the George Kennon-Ambassador to Russia confirmation we had some others of note. . . . The first was that the next big income tax story would name a federal high-up last initial'd "B." . . . Tuesday's front pages announced that D. A. Bolich resigned from the tax bureau. . . . In the Oct. 22nd col'm we said: "Another big shot underworld leader in Greater N. Y. is scheduled for execution. His last initial is 'A'. " . . . The Albert Anastasia - Murder, Inc. thing was "exclusived" by the opposition the other matinee. . . . We have had several boners, too, but let us leave that fingerpointing to the other newspapers who never make any.

Perry Como, as Big Time as they come, agrees with some of us about radio. He is on thrice weekly for Chesterfield tv. His contract prohibits radio appearances but Como says he won't go for that next season. Says too many people from out of town ask him: "What are you doing now that you are off radio?" . . . Bob Strauss, who starred in "Stalag 17" and took a leave to make a Hollywood picture, returned to find that the cast has no room for him. . . . When Lou Walters opens his Latin Quarter spot in Miami Beach soon, the chorus girls will dwell in its large suites — no rent . . . Lena Horne spurned six weeks in Rio at $12,000 per—to spend the Yule season with her family on the coast. . . . "Show Biz," the new history of Variety and show people, is in its 3rd printing. . . . Racing publications now admit losing about $15-000 weekly because of the bookie tax. . . . April Stevens' mgr has cued attorneys to get an injunction against Margaret Whiting and Lorry Raine for allegedly copying the breathsexy stylings on their platters.

One of Wilson Mizner's most quoted quips was about a poker game in which one player tossed his loaded wallet on the table . . . Mizner took off a shoe, and tossing it into the "pot," gagged: "If it's leather you're betting, I call!" It's in the Bob Mitchum film, "His Kind of Woman" . . . Last Sabbath's N. Y. Times gave a page to the Veep's "fabulous jokes," which included the ageless one about the ingrate who when asked if he hadn't remembered all that was done to help him, barked: "But what have you done for me lately?" . . . Reminded us of a lot of people.

Truman Sensing

DOWN SOUTH

A LADDER OR A LINE?

Perhaps the best way to explain the difference between the Conservative government, again in power in Great Britain, and the Socialist government, just deposed, is that the former offers the people a ladder to climb on while the latter only offered them a line to stand in.

That is the difference between progress and stagnation; it is the difference between freedom and slavery.

Under a free enterprise system, the individual can climb the ladder of success to whatever extent he has the energy and the initiative to make the effort. No one is going to push him up the ladded; neither is anyone going to hold him down. His success depends upon his own efforts.

Under the state control system, the individual can only get in line and wait his turn for whatever share the planners have decided to dole out to him. Nothing that he can do will change his place in line or get him more than the share that has been allotted to each and all alike. There is no place for incentive, and individual energy and initiative are useless commodities.

Are we learning the lesson from Britain's example that Britain herself has learned at such terrible cost? Or shall we watch Britain gradually emerge from the mire of state control while we sink more deeply in?

The basic principles upon which our philosophy of government in this country is based are individual freedom and local self - government. Whatever tends to abridge or destroy these principles has the same effect upon our way of life. We should therefore be constantly on guard against those things that would kill the incentive of the individual to climb the ladder or that would take authority away from local government and turn it over to centralized government.

We have already gone far along the road to the state control of socialism in this country. We have for a number of years now been bartering opportunity, the basic appeal which America has held forth to the world since its founding, for a security that is false and illusory.

Will we recognize this fact and change our ways before we submit to further socialism, or will we wait until the well runs dry before we miss the water? If we do wait, will we have the courage of those fine British people who never gave up the struggle for freedom during the stagnation and frustration of socialist rule, or will we allow this last great hope of freedom to disappear from the earth?

Do we recognize the signs of the creeping socialism that is gradually binding us in its coils? Do our farmers, traditionally the freest people on earth, realize that subsidized agriculture is destroying their independence? Do the bankers and the builders and the business men realize that federal housing and government loans are only softening them for the final kill? Do the people in general realize that the price and wage and materials controls we now have in effect are the ultimate goals for which socialism strives? Do they realize that our overpowering national debt, our unbalanced budget, our extravagance in government, our inordinate taxation, are killing the incentive to create and work and produce, the very factors that have brought the American people the highest standard of living the world has ever known?

One of my old college professors used to say that the greatest thing in the world is man and the greatest thing in man is his mind. I think he might have gone a step farther and have said that the greatest thing in man's mind is his spirit, because, after all, it is the spirit of men that makes them free. Now, more than ever since our nation was founded, we need the spirit that refuses to accept state control and individual domination. We must not trade our "unalienable rights" for a mess of "security pottage".

IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, November 24. —Dear Staff: In this morning's publicity barrage is an item about a young Los Angeles schoolgirl being signed on long term contract (with options, of course) by a major studio. The press release informs me that she was given her ticket without undergoing anything more exacting than a rudimentary screen test, and that she was discovered by one of the studio's talent scouts when he saw her dining in a local restaurant.

And once again - just as I have been on hundreds of other similar occasions - I'm afflicted by a wondering muse. Just how does a talent scout, by watching a gal eat her dinner, or walk down the boulevard, or dance a rhumba in a nightery, or make a purchase in a department store, or do any one of the hundreds of other things that are part of a normal day's activities, decide that she has, or hasn't "talent."

It seems to happen every week and it must be admitted that more than a few of Hollywood's bigger stars gained their starts through just such flashes of intutition, or whatever it is, on the part of Filmville talent - hunters. Lana Turner's stormy career was launched when Mervyn Le Roy saw her sitting at the counter in Schwab's Drug Store sipping a soda. Lauren Bacall's "talent" was sensed at a glance when she attended a party in Florida. Nancy Guild without a day of acting experience to her credit, posed for a magazine photo. A producer saw it and said, instantly, "Here's star material!"

How do they do it? Do they judge the new find's acting ability by the way she tilts her chin, or the manner in which she handles a dinner fork? Is a well - turned ankle a sign of dramatic genius, or is that indicated by the flare of a nostril? Or - banish the thought - is it all a matter of guess work, of picking an attractive exterior and hoping that Lady Luck will be kind enough to provide the rest.

Being a cynic who remembers the nine "discoveries" that have failed for everyone that has panned out, I incline toward that - this IS lese majestie - latter theory. I suspect that talent may be the most overworked word in the Hollywood vocabulary. A pretty face and a beautiful figure are still any girl's best passport to studio paychecks.

JIMMIE FIDLER

Dear Boss: Next to the best passport, James. Leave us remind you that a boy - friend in just the right studio job is still to be preferred. Here's gossip.

Understand that producer - director Robert Rossen, prominent in the recent Hollywood Red Probe, is negotiating with the Mexican government for a clearance to film the life story of Hernando Cortez, the conquistador. . .Isn't the Marie M. Sieber, from whom Uncle Sam's income tax collectors are trying to wring $25,000 in back taxes (due in 1947) the same curvacious grandmother who's known to movie fans as Marlene Dietrich?. . .Reports from England insist that the datings of Sonny Tufts and Sharman Douglas now add up to a serious romance . . Boss, we've never seen a man more nervous at an opening performance than veteran actor J. Carrol Naish was the other evening when his 19 - year - old daughter Elaine (a real beauty, by the way) made her debut at the Highland Playhouse in "The Royal Family" . . Speaking of 19-year-old daughters, actor James Millican's Virginia a student at UCLA, shocked Hollywood by retorting "not interested" when she was ofered screen tests last week.

Maurice Chevalier, unable to get into the USA in person, plans an entrance via TV; he's producing, and starring in, a series of video skits designed for use here. . Hear that Marion Davies, after liquidating most of her real estate and stock holdings here and in the east, will make a big splash in the independent production field. . .Mrs. Hugo Haas, wife of the actor - producer, is recovering from a major operation. . .Guy Harrison, a wealthy LA realtor, has popped the question to Lynn Bari, and the lady, we hear, has asked for thinking time before giving him either a yes or a no. . .Ha! Esther Williams isn't the kind of a gal to take chances. Before sailing for Honolulu, where she and her family will spend the holidays, she ordered a turkey and a Christmas tree from a local dealer who will ship them to her Hawaiian address.

Elizabeth Taylor's mama is using all her influence with her daughter (it doesn't seem to be much) to effect a reconciliation with Nicky Hilton. . .Boss, that trade paper item about Harry Cohn trying to sell his Columbia holdings and retire because of high blood pressure has most of his employees baffled. They wonder whether it's HIS high blood pressure, or that of the other stockholders.

BASCOM TIMMONS

The Eisenhower fever is breaking out in many sectors, with talk about opening headquarters here and there, lining up convention delegates (Republican, that is) and the inevitable "he will, he won't" chatter of people who don't seem to know much of what they are talking about.

But in New England, and in Boston particularly, the situation is taking a personal turn, with old friendships cracking up as the debate over the absentee general, busy at his task of building Europe defenses, flares in high places.

Latest surprise has been the announcement of Rep. John F. Kennedy (Dem.-Mass.) that he may oppose Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep.-Mass.) in the 1952 campaign, in which Lodge will seek another six year term. That unexpected challenge from a fellow Harvard alumnus, son of a former U. S. ambassador to Great Britain seems to have been prompted in party by Lodge's decision to go all out for Eisenhower, taking over the general's campaign in New England as a self-designated manager.

And the biggest part of the surprise is that young Kennedy has taken off with a healthy swing at the foreign policy of the Truman administration, which makes him sound more like a supporter of Senator Robert A. Taft than a New England Democrat. That swing has added significance because one of Kennedy's house colleagues from Boston is Rep. John W. McCormack the majority leader of the U. S. house of representatives.

New England has been fondly counted on by the volunteer cheer leaders for Ike to provide delegates who will vote for him whether he announces his candidacy or not—in fact, the bloc to which the Eisenhower draft could be attached. But recent polls have indicated strong sentiment for Senator Taft in and around Boston. One taken by the Boston Herald indicated that Ike will have a tough time in getting delegates away from Taft, particularly with conservative Bay State Republicans reported to be in favor of the senator. The Republican bid for Massachusetts next year must be made with fervor, for no Republican presidential party has carried the state since Calvin Coolidge in 1924. Yet Massachusetts usually goes Republican in off years, has a predominantly Republican delegation in congress, including two Republican senators.

The heat already engendered by the Taft - Eisenhower skirmishing has already resulted in the resignation of the editor of the Boston Herald, John H. Crider a strong Eisenhower supporter, because of disagreement with his publisher, Robert B. Choate, over a critical review of Senator Taft's book on foreign policy which Crider wrote and of which Choate forebade publication. Choate has been a long time close friend of Senator Lodge, so his apparent preference for Senator Taft as a presidential candidate will probably put a strain on that tie, too.

To get back to the Kennedy break with other Massachusetts Democrats on foreign policy, it boils down according to his recent speeches, to the impression he obtained on a recent trip around the world, not made as part of a junket. He brought back a conviction that the United Nations has lost face among the leaders of most countries because they are convinced that the Truman administration is running it, and that other nations have little voice. This feeling Kennedy found, was centered in England and France, but the greatest bitternes against this country was encountered in the Arab states of the Middle East, where resentment against the U. S. backing of the new state of Israel is still heated and is constantly fanned by the failure of the United Nations to do anything for 700,000 Moslem refugees.

President Truman has already defied the Republicans to campaign against his foreign policy apparently with conviction that it will have 100 per cent backing from Democrats. From this distance, that seems to be a logical assumption but the Kennedy talk must be disquieting to some party leaders, coming as it does from the Democratic stronghold of Boston. It will not deter the Eisenhower leaders there from going ahead, but the general's opponents are not exactly satisfied with the initial reaction to Lodge's move to spearhead Ike's operations.

As for the Eisenhower boom elsewhere, it started off confusedly in Washington, where the announcement that headquarters had been opened in the Shoreham Hotel was denied several hundred times in the course of the first day by hotel phone operators. In Kansas City, where the national Eisenhower high command, headed by Roy Roberts and former U. S. Senator Harry Darby, is eventually to have its headquarters.

Editors Roundtable

What Others Say:

EISENHOWER'S POSITION

Majority editorial opinion is that General Eisenhower will, in time, state definitely his willingness to be the Republican party's nominee for president. But a very large minority of editors believes that the general is still completely undecided about the matter. — The large majority feels that the precedence over political statements now which Eisenhower gives his job of rebuilding Western Europe's defenses will enhance his political position. But a considerable minority of editors sees here an implied comparison of the importance of the presidency and NATO work, and thinks the general may be risking "overdoing the act."

Savannah (Ga.) Marning News (Ind.): "It is significant . . . that when we compare Eisenhower's statements and his attitude this year with what he said and how he conducted himself in 1948, he seems to be willing to run in 1952, if the sentiment is strong enough for him to do so. In 1948 he was bluntly definite in his insistence that he had no desire to make a bid for the post of chief executive. This year his words are much more conciliatory, and they carry a note of a willingness to offer if the demand is made upon him."

Wilmington (Del.) Morning News (Ind.): "Eisenhower said he would not be a candidate in 1948 in the absence of 'overriding' reasons capable of changing his belief that a professional soldier lacks the training required for high political office. . . . As for the arguments that might persuade him, they would have to include proof that the foreign policy he undoubtedly believes in . . . is in danger. He would also have to be convinced that those who are supporting him are representative of enough Republicans so that a 'draft' would be the real thing."

Jacksonville (Fla.) Times-Union (Ind.-Dem.): "Despite the fact that he has demurred time and again when approached on the subject of his presidential ambitions, the general traveled about the country when he was serving as active head of Columbia University making speeches which definitely had a political taint. . . . He may not want to be called a politician, but he certainly acts like one. . . . 'Ike' has a choice to make as to whether he is going to be a soldier or a politician, and an increasing number of people believe that he is not adding to his stature as a man by trying to play the end against the middle."

El Paso (Texas) Times (Dem.): "General Eisenhower will be remembered as a bluff military man and as a clever politician. It may appear impossible to be both, but the general gives us that impression. . . . He has a job to do in Europe. If he were to state publicly that he had an eye on the White House, his influence and prestige in Western Europe would suffer a sharp slump. He immediately would leave the economic and military field in the eyes of the Europeans and become a politician, an office seeker. . . . Eisenhower is playing his cards right. The Times is convinced that when the 'call' comes he will answer it."

Wichita (Kans.) Eagle (Ind.): "Eisenhower has a very important assignment in Europe and mixing directly in partisan politics would reduce his effectiveness or eliminate him altogether. . . . But the practical political point remains that a reticent Ike is losing potential delegates. His cause will have to be almost an irresistible force indeed if he does not start until next spring after many of the crucial delegate lineups have jelled. . . . His Republican friends, including those in Kansas, are plenty worried. Senator Taft is making delegate hay, and you can't block him with the prospect that possibly Ike will run."

New York Herald Tribune (Ind.-Rep.): "As far as it was possible for him to do—within the precise limits set by his present military task—General Eisenhower cleared the way for the active efforts of his friends on his behalf. . . . With this reassurance the movement for a draft can surely go forward with added zeal. . . . Without question he will speak his mind as soon as events have ripened to a point which makes it possible for him to weigh in the same scale his obligation to European defense and his obligation to the American people as a possible candidate for the presidency."

Grand Forks (N. D.) Herald (Ind.-Rep.): "It is not likely that the NATO will collapse if Eisenhower is succeeded by some other capable military man, for it is the attitude of the United States and its continued willingness to dish out the coin and men that will determine NATO's continuance. . . And certainly the man in the White House will always be terrifically important in arriving at that decision. That is why the Herald feels the U. S. presidency should not be considered a sort of second fiddle to NATO. . . . Eisenhower's supporters are admitting that he can overdo the act and brush himself out of the presidential picture."

Sounds Disturb Soviet Speaker At U. N. Session

Paris, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Suddenly, in the U. N. chamber today, there were sounds like a succession of rifle bolts being thrown home.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the speaker, froze in his chair and stopped talking. His bodyguards moved forward in their chairs to cover him. U. N. guards whirled toward the photographers' gallery from which the sounds came.

It was only a stuck mechanism on a rapid sequence camera. As soon as it was fixed, the session went on.

QUEEN AND COURT

Miss Sarah Walters, middle, queen of the Rayville High School, and her court, composed of Miss Carol Downs, Miss Ann Page, Miss Shirley Nichols, and Miss Jimmy Salsbury, were honored at homecoming festivities in Rayville recently. The queen and her court are shown viewing the game from a platform near the field.

Barkley Ends Tour Of Korean Front

Tokyo, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Vice-President Alben Barkley rested today after a three-day tour of the Korean battlefront which included personal firing of an autographed artillery shell at the Reds in celebration of his 74th birthday.

Wearing a parka to protect him against the wintry cold, he airhopped over snowy terrain Saturday to meet battlefront units and gather information to report back to President Truman.

Tommies and Aussies of the British commonwealth division, Turkish riflemen with the U. S. 25th division and Colombian infantrymen with the U. S. 24th were among those who met him and wished him a happy birthday.

Tired but optimistic over what he saw, he arrived in Tokyo by plane last night with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander and John Muccio, U.S. ambassador to Korea.

Mrs. Barkley, who had gone with him to Korea Thursday, had preceded him here Friday.

"The cease-fire situation looks encouraging," Barkley told newsmen. "That's all I can say."

He added that "If and when there is a settlement, the question that will present itself will be retaining troops in Korea until such time as peace is assured. I can't predict how long that will be."

Asked his reaction to reports of wide scale Communist atrocities against Allied war prisoners, the vice-president said there was some uncertainty as to the number but "If it were only one it would be an outrage."

POLICE DECIDING FATE OF YOUTH

Detroit, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Authorities studied the family life of a 17-year-old youth today before deciding whether to prosecute him for shooting his father to death as the older man savagely beat the boy's mother.

Ferris Jones walked into the suburban Dearborn police station at 3:30 a.m. and told the desk sergeant:

"I've just shot my father."

Police found the father, Paul Jones, 47, unconscious on his bed, a bullet wound in the back of his head. He died in a hospital five hours later.

Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien told the son's story.

The youth said he had awakened to hear his mother screaming and found his father kneeling on her and beating her with his fists. He said he told his father to stop "but he didn't even hear me."

Ferris said he got his .22 rifle from the kitchen, put a bullet in it and "aimed the gun right at his head."

O'Brien said Mrs. Jones told of constant beatings by her husband during their 29 years of marriage.

She said her husband, who was unemployed, went hunting every year "and when he comes back, he walks into the house in a rage and falsely accuses me of having been with other men while he was away.

"I pleaded with him not to go this time. . . . I knew what misery I was in for when he got back."

Michigan's deer hunting season is now in progress.

Young Jones added, "He has been beating us for years. He is always worse when he comes back from a hunting trip. We knew when he walked in last night that we were in for it again."

He said his father quarreled with the family, including another son, eight-year-old Paul, Jr., until bedtime.

Prosecutor O'Brien said the youth would be held without charge for further investigation.

O'Brien said the wife told police her husband had not worked since 1944 when he was employed in an automobile plant.

Civil War Vet Has Birthday

Los Angeles, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Civil War Veteran Douglas T. Story celebrated his 107th birthday anniversary today.

Celebrated is perhaps a little strong—it was just a quiet observance at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dulcy Potee, 68. A few close friends dropped in to offer congratulations. They planted a rose bush in honor of the occasion.

However, Story's health is good for the age of a fellow who ran away from home in Pope County, Illinois, 91 years ago to join the Union army. He served in Company I, 136th Illinois infantry.

Mrs. Potee said her father now spends much of his time in bed but is still alert.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

Thanksgiving and Lon Heuer's wedding to Martha Roddey were big events in the Little Theatre this week. "All My Sons" took a back seat and the Little Theatre playhouse was dark and silent from Wednesday on.

Today the group gets back together for that last and vital week of rehearsal before the production hits the boards for an eight night run beginning Wednesday evening December 5. Director Fontelieu tells me that the set of "All My Sons" is ready for the painters and all those last minute touches that we have all become familiar with and look forward to in a Stocker Fontelieu production. Beginning this next week I bring you sketches on the newcomers to Little Theatre stage who are rehearsing for this play.

Random Notes . . . Speaking of Lon's wedding on Saturday, some of his very close friends played a trick on him at the wedding rehearsal on Friday. After the rehearsal and supper with the Neil McHenry's Lon went to Lee-Rogers to pick up his automobile, but it was gone. Of course, Lon was frantic but the prankster held out and the automobile mysteriously reappeared on Saturday morning. . . . John Savage who appeared recently in "Abie's Irish Rose" was in New York last week and saw our Little Theatre friends, June Shultz, Bette Provost and Jim Reynolds. . . . Congratulations to Anne and Renaud Breard. They have a brand new son at their house this week. . . . Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Carter moved in their new home on Forsythe, recently. People are telling me that Myrtle's new home is veddy, veddy lovely. . . . Bill Riley, recently of the cast of "Abie's Irish Rose," has been named general chairman for the Ouachita chapter of the March of Dimes. He is working very hard to get plans mapped out for the January campaign. . . . Skipper Perkins was very enthusiastic about her trip to Houston last week end and especially about the professional production of the play, "The Importance of Being Earnest" that she, Mrs. W. L. Moore and "Dub" saw. I remember that Stocker considered doing this play in our own Little Theatre some time back. Skipper said that she and Mrs. Moore saw the Texas A. & M. - Rice game on Saturday afternoon; were guests at the Playhouse that evening and later enjoyed dinner and dancing at the officers Club, Ellington Field. Sounds like a wonderful week end. . . . We have had cause this week to be really wedding conscious. Congratulations to Little Theatre member Jean Kennedy who became Mrs. Randolph Brown on Friday. . . . We'll see you Monday with more of the latest info on "All My Sons."

Your National Guard

"The Citizen-Soldier, bulwark of our liberties", those were the words of our first Guardsman, and our first president, George Washington. Those were the thoughts of your neighbors who in 1946, when they had scarcely hung up their uniforms from one big war, again donned the uniform of the United States once a week and two weeks each summer to maintain the reserve components of our country for the National Guard was reorganized again in 1946 after being returned to the local level.

Although the Louisiana National Guard lost many of its members to active duty training by their having volunteered have gained a net increase of 25.83 per cent in a recent eight weeks recruiting drive. More and more young men are realizing the benefits of the local National Guard lead by combat veteran officers and non-commissioned officers.

Governor Long recently issued a proclamation that all young men between the ages of 17—18½ would be exempt from the draft provided they enlisted prior to attaining the age of 18½ years, if they served the Guard satisfactorily.

The Guards historic role is to train as many civilians as possible to be able to become outstanding soldiers with a mininum of effort in case of an all-out mobilization is required for the national survival.

U. N. DECIDES

ence of the NATO council in the guarded Foro Italico—once known as the Mussolini Forum—in suburban Rome. A briefing officer reported virtually every foreign ministr took part in the discussion.

The council heard reports from:

Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the prospects of a Korean armistice.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman on the war against the Communist-led national revolutionary movement in Indo-China.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on the turmoil in the middle east, which is occupying nearly 50,000 British troops.

The ministers were said to have given consideration to the possibility that, if a truce is signed, the Chinese Reds themselves might shift some of their armies from Korea to the Indo-Chinese front.

Schuman was reported concerned over such a prospect.

The informants said he served notice on his colleagues that, if the French effort in Indo-China has to be increased, France will need further aid from her friends.

Plotted on a world map, trouble-spots form a wide arc around the Communist third of the world. The arc stretches from Norway's northern reaches through the middle east to Korea, which leads into the backyards of Red China and Russia.

Soviet diplomatic pressure on little Norway, the east-west struggle for Germany; the cominform campaign against "Black Sheep" Yugoslavia; Britain's festering quarrels with Egypt and Iran; the prospects of peace—or further war—in Korea; these were some of the issues which drew ministerial attention.

Defense and finance ministers, together with senior diplomats and soldiers, were in the ornate conference room.

In 30 months, the Allies have worked out their blueprint for world security. They began to translate it into reality less than a year ago. Today a report was presented by the military committee saying the Allies will have a 24 semi-equipped divisions standing guard in Europe at the end of 1951.

By the end of 1952, the Allied goal is to have 40 divisions battle-ready in every sense of the word.

The ministers' biggest worry—as it emerged from the hush-hush reports—clearly was the big time-lag on the problem of equipment.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's main complaints to President Truman and to the ministers have centered around the jerky western arms drive. Much of the ministers' attention, according to officials representing various main countries, is being devoted to establishing just how Allied promises can be translated into practice.

The council, under the chairmanship of Lester B. Pearson of Canada, adopted an agenda and a working time-table today.

AIR SERVICE

transfer to the merged corporation of all or parts of the southern routes of Capital Airlines.

According to Morgan, this case vitally concerns the Twin Cities, because it holds out the possibility of direct air service from Monroe to a far larger section of the United States than is now possible. Should the merger of Delta with one or both of these lines be effected, it would be possible for passengers to board a Delta plane in Monroe and travel on Delta's system directly to Pittsburgh, Washington, New York, the New England states and Canada.

As soon as the Chamber's petition has been considered by the CAB, and permission has been granted for the Chamber to become a party to the case, work will begin on assembling the exhibits and arguments to be presented in the examiner's hearing, probably in February or March of next year. Morgan pointed out that these cases are quite often dragged out for one or two years, but that his committee is concerned with the long range good that such service can do the Twin Cities, and is quite willing to devote the time necessary to carrying out the work entailed.

efforts of the British officer in charge of the patrol to reassure him, some 60 reserve Egyptian police turned out of the police station and began firing indiscriminately."

The British patrol, the note said, was forced to return the fire, and "sporadic firing by the Egyptian police then broke out in other parts of the town, and for the next two hours they continued to shoot wildly in all directions."

Order was restored about 2 a.m. Sunday, the note said, after the British found a senior Egyptian police official to tour the town with them in a loud - speaker truck calling out in Arabic and English for a cease - fire.

The shooting started again Sunday afternoon and continued until early Monday. The British said that, contrary to Egyptian claims, they had no orgnized bodies of troops or tanks or other armored vehicles in Ismailia Sunday afternoon.

The British charged that the Egyptian protest over the Ismailia fighting was drafted "primarily as propaganda designed to mislead public opinion in Egypt and the world at large."

Calm was restored at Ismailia Monday at a meeting between the provincial governor and the British.

NATIONAL

when Mossadegh wanted the voting to start. It usually takes as long as three weeks to complete the elections. The bypassed Nov. 21 date was originally set in comformity with the practice of holding elections to the Majlis three months before the members' two-year terms expire.

Various reasons were given for the Majlis vote for postponement, among them Mossadegh's absence and demonstrations by the outlawed Tudeh (Communist) party while he was away.

Fatemi contended the postponement is not effective because the Majlis vote was not followed by senate approval. The senate met today and shunted the question off to a committee.

Mossadegh is expected to go before the Majlis tomorrow with an outline of his future plans and perhaps to demand a vote of confidence. He expects to appear in the senate Monday.

The premier, whose regime has been spectacular and dramatic through the oil nationalization period, has little formal party support in the Majlis.

He had only seven national front party members among the 136 in the Majlis when the Shah was forced to appoint him premier last April 29 on the heels of unanimous approval of the oil nationalization program. That vote unseated his more moderate predecessor, Hossein Ala.

Under Mossadegh, Iran ousted the British operators of the AIOC. Oil operations were halted.

Political observers said they believed if Mossadegh were defeated the most likely candidate to succeed him would be Ahmad Qavam, a tough old Conservative who was premier when western power pressure in the United Nations forced Russian troops to leave northern Iran in 1946 after they had overstayed wartime occupation treaty limits.

REP. ROGERS

Rogers said.

She noted that the latest casualty reports from the defense department show 16,972 Americans killed in action or dead of wounds and 10,871 missing. She specifically asked that the president "relate the death and missing figures to the figures made public by General Ridgway so that the mothers and fathers of this country may know whether General Ridgway's figures are included in the report of the defense department."

General Ridgway's report that 8,000 alleged cases of murdering prisoners were under investigation also mentioned that 126 suspects in the cases were in custody. The report was put on the documents table of the U. N. general assembly in Paris a week ago, but it went unnoticed by the 1,800 correspondents there.

Only last night did it come to light, when a New York Herald Tribune reporter found it at U. N. headquarters in New York.

The Pentagon, which hadn't seemed aware of the report either, confirmed then that it had been received in Washington.

Senator Gillette (R. - Iowa), member of the senate foreign relations committee, told a reporter today it was "unfortunate" that the United Nations had not taken any action to protest the massacres. He said:

"The number of our boys tortured and slain is immaterial except as it emphasizes the horror. Even if just one of the American prisoners has been so mistreated it would justify the most vigorous and searching demands and protests. Our forces in Korea have been operating under the flag of the United Nations. It is certainly incumbent upon the U. N. to make an immediate and effective protest. I can't understand why the U. N. hasn't acted."

Senator Aiken (R.-Vt.) told a reporter he didn't think there was any chance of ever determinging an exact figure but those responsible "should be called to account." He recalled that war crimes trials were held in Germany and Japan after World War II but was not sure whether a similar arrangement would be possible after the fighting stops in Korea.

Representative Madden (D.-Ind.) has proposed that a house group he heads be empowered to collect evidence on Korean atrocities that would be available for post-Korean war trials.

Russia Turns Down West's Arms Plan

Paris, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky rejected the western big three disarmament plan today and submitted a dozen amendments intended to substitute Moscow's brand of arms limitation, with an immediate ban on the atomic bomb.

For an hour and 47 minutes, the Soviet foreign minister lambasted the formula sponsored by the United States, Britain and France in a speech before the 60-member United Nations political committee.

He complained the western plan did not go far enough toward reducing the dangers of war. He said it "cannot, in the present form, serve its announced purpose." Then he presented his amendments, by which the plan would be rewritten almost completely to conform to Soviet ideas.

Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, U. S. delegate who replaced Secretary of State Dean Acheson in the disarmament debate, expressed disappointment that Vishinsky still used invective instead of practical words. Jessup and spokesmen for Britain and France indicated they will go ahead with work on the plan in the hope some progress toward a genuine system of disarmament is still possible.

A British spokesman said his delegation felt Vishinsky, by his amendments, was trying to inject into the three-power resolution the Soviet disarmament program made up of all the old Russian themes. A French spokesman expressed the view Vishinsky had left the door open to negotiation.

The net effect of the speech, eagerly awaited all week, was that the Russians had reiterated their opposition to the western proposals and had not moved one toward accepting them, but had shown they were willing to keep talking.

Elsewhere in the U. N.:

1—The United States formally accused Russian fighters of intercepting and attacking a U. S. navy patrol bomber over international waters of the Sea of Japan. The plane, with ten men aboard, failed to return from a weather reconnaissance flight Nov. 6.

2—A statement by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway that 8,000 American soldiers had died in Korea as war crimes victims up to July 20 turned up among the hundreds of papers on the U. N. document counter. The 8,000 figure, about 2,000 more than previously indicated in Col. James M. Hanley's controversial announcement in Korea, was contained in one of the U. N. commander's regular semi-monthly reports, submitted by the United States delegation Nov. 12. The report covers the period of Aug. 16 to Aug. 31. It was reported placed on the document counter a week ago.

3—South Africa informed the U. N. it will not attend meetings of the U. N. assembly trusteeship committee until the committee cancels an invitation to native southwest Africa chiefs to appear before it. The committee did not meet today.

La. Forests Are Afire

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Thousands of acres of east central Louisiana hardwood were aflame today, believed set by careless deer hunters, State Forester James E. Mixon said.

Through his office here, Mixon reported air patrols had sighted the scattered fires in dry, swamp country, thinly populated, stretched along the Mississippi river north of Ferriday.

He could give no estimate of the number of burning acres, nor could he name the parishes where the hardwood was burning.

CLASSY, ALL-FROSH CAGE SQUAD FOR INDIANS

NORTHEAST QUINT DRILLS FOR FIRST BATTLE ON DEC. 6

Phillips Promises Tribe To 'Surprise Lot Of People'

Basketball supersedes football as the big activity at Northeast Louisiana State these days as Coach Cary Phillips, beginning his first season at the helm of the Redskins, is busy getting his all - freshman outfit of classy looking talent ready for a winter campaign that opens against Delta State here Thursday night, December 6.

Coach Phillips, the former star of the hardwood floors at Ole Miss and well known here for his production of former A. A. A. championship teams for the once - basketball minded Brown Paper Mill, has been busy for a month getting his outfit ready.

"We're new, but we're going to surprise a lot of people," Coach Phillips predicted yesterday. "We may not win all our games, but we'll have this squad around for four years, and before this crew graduates they'll have the fans sitting up and taking notice."

Coach Phillips listed his prospects as:

1. James Shively a six - foot - one all - state with Jonesboro - Hodge High's state champions last year. Already considered a mainstay for the Indian quint.

2. Robert Bennett, six - foot - six, of Monroe. This is the boy Phillips is already predicting will "develop into the greatest center this state has ever had."

3. Arlan Adams, six - foot - two all - state from Ogden High. Deadliest shot on the Indian squad, and a corner - shot specialist.

4. Jo Harrell, six - one, a guard from Bastrop. Especially handy to have working on rebounds off the backboard.

5. Bob Carter, five - foot - eleven of Monroe, He's just joined the cage squad after competing in football. A leading scorer in state high school play last year, Carter is already working in well with the Tribe quint.

6. Glen Robinson, a six - foot - two guard who was on the all-state team two years in a row while at Friendship High School.

7. Robert Williams, six - three, another all - stater from Ogden. He'll make somebody an awfully close race for the first string.

8. Raydell Smith, the runt of the squad at five - foot - six, but he's one of the best long shotmakers with the Tribe and has daring speed and ability.

9. Tom Herrin, six - foot - three prospect from Poland, an outstanding defensive performer.

10. Robert Cole, James Cunningham, F. Cerneglia, and S. Cerneglia, all hard workers and developing fast into the kind of ball player Phillips requests.

Phillips considers it's still a little early to be coming out with a starting lineup, but his leading prospects appear to be Shively, Bennett. Adams, Harrell, Robinson and Carter. Williams and Smith are right up among the front-runners, making it a hot race for starting assignments.

Northeast also plans to bring color into its basketball program, rivaling that of football. Season tickets will go on sale in the next few days, posters to promote the team will be put out, game programs will be available for the fans, leaders and a cheering squad will be organized, and the collge band will attend the games.

Bunkie Invades Delhi For First Playoff Friday

Delhi, Nov. 24.—(Special)—Delhi High School, northeast Louisiana Class B champions, will meet Bunkie High School, champions of the southwest district, at Delhi Friday night in the first round of the state championship playoffs.

SPARTANS SLAM BUFFALOES, 45-7

M. S. C. Ends First Unbeaten Season Since 1913

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Michigan State's talent-packed backfield ran rings around Colorado today for a 45-7 win to cap an undefeated season.

The walloping windup made Michigan State, currently rated second in the Associated Press poll, a strong contender for the mythical national football championship.

It was the first undefeated reason for Michigan State since 1913. The winning streak of 15 games tied a similar stretch dating back to pre-World War I days.

Michigan State scored twice in the first period, led 19-0 at the half and was ahead 32-7 at the third quarter.

Halfback Carroll Hardy provided the big moment for the outclassed Buffaloes when he took a pitchout and wheeled 67 yards around end for a score on the first play after the third quarter kickoff.

Score by quarters:

Colorado	0 0 7 0— 7
Mich. State	13 6 13 13—45

Colorado scoring: Touchdowns, Hardy. Conversions, Williams.

Michigan State scoring: Touchdowns, R. Carey 2, Panin, Wells, McAuliffe 2, Slonac. Conversions, R. Carey 3.

MARYLAND BEATS WEST VIRGINIA

54 - 7 Winners Unbeaten 1st Time In 57 Years

College Park, Md., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Maryland gave the lumps to West Virginia 54 to 7 today before leaving for the Sugar Bowl with its first undefeated football team in 57 years and with a bookful of records.

Coach Jim Tatum took it easy on the Mountaineers in the second half by playing mostly substitutes after his regulars had run up a 35-7 halftime lead.

The eight touchdown production ran Maryland's total scoring to 353 points over nine victims this season. Last year's team had held Maryland scoring record of 274 points in ten games.

Fullback Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski again trampled the opposition by steamrollering 14 times for 131 yards and two touchdowns. He individually outgained the enemy team for the sixth time as West Virginia ran the ball only eight times for a net loss of 21 yards.

Modzelewski boosted his season's rushing to 834 yards, 154 more than all nine opponents.

Maryland set a new one game team offensive total of 618 yards for an all-time season total of 3,900 in the process of pulverizing the West Virginians before 14,300 fans on a muddy field.

Modzelewski and Quarterback Jack Scarbath sewed up the game in the first half, in which Maryland had the ball six times and scored five.

The blonde bruiser Modzelewski churned 16 and three yards over the goal and Scarbath threw three touchdown passes of 42, 27 and 10 yards.

Scarbath didn't play the second half and Modzelewski left in the third quarter.

Score by quarters:

Maryland	21 14 6 13—54
West Virginia	0 7 0 0— 7

Maryland scoring: Touchdowns, Modzelewski 2, Lindsay, Weidensaul, Colteryahn, Shemonski, Horning, Scioscia. Conversions, Decker 6.

West Virginia scoring: Touchdown, Marker. Conversion, Stone.

Ohio State Bows To Michigan, 7-0

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Don Peterson, Michigan's stocky fullback, smashed six yards for a second period touchdown that ruined Ohio State today, 7 to 0, and brought a happy ending to an otherwise mediocre Wolverine season.

A near sellout crowd of 95,000 and a nationwide television audience watched Michigan stop the Buckeyes cold and rack up its fourth win in six conference games.

Michigan, closing the year with a 4-5 record, poorest in 15 years, had control all the way, moving inside the Buckeye 10 three times.

Score by quarters:

Ohio State	0-0-0-0—0
Michigan	0-7-0-0—7

Kallio Presents New Talent In Tag Team Mat Show Here Tuesday Night

Harmon, Hayamaka Paired Against Scott, Cronin

Two newcomers to this circuit show up at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday night to take on Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and "Mighty" Scott, who wrestled here for his first time last week, in a tag team match.

Johnny Harmon, Atlanta, Ga., and Sugi Hayamaka, a Japanese wrestler, appear here Tuesday night against the villainous Cronin and Scott, who are disqualified as much as they are beaten.

Harmon and Hayamaka are supposed to be two top wrestlers, using scientific wrestling instead of the slugging, choking and kneeing tactics of their rivals. Harmon is described as being young, husky and a good wrestler, while Hayamaka, who is five feet and nine inches tall, is built something on the order of George Curtis; that is, tall and well - muscled.

NEW CHAMP

Sugi Hayamaka, Japanese wrestler who appears at Gus Kallio's Arena Tuesday, is the new world's light heavyweight champion, it was learned here last night. Hayamaka took the crown from Henry Harrell in a match at Jackson, Miss., Friday night.

Hayamaka is a master of the Japanese style of fighting, using the side of his hand instead of his fist whenever he gets ready to do some serious damage to his opponent. He has wrestled in California, Wyoming, Washington and the rest of the far western states during his professional wrestling tours.

Scott, who appeared in the country from Scotland about two years ago, showed his colors in flying style last week in his only appearance to date. His disqualification in the third fall of the match makes him a partner worthy of Cronin, who has been disqualified in his last four matches here.

Scott appeared last week dressed in tam, kilts, and a knee supporter. He discarded the tam and kilts before the match began, but had to be almost forcibly deprived of the knee supporter in the second fall of the match. The fans objected to the knee supporter when it was discovered that its main purpose was to rub in the eyes of Scott's opponent, George Curtis.

Scott was disqualified after he knocked Curtis down and then hung onto the ropes with his knee in his opponent's throat, making it difficult for Curtis to breathe.

Cronin, the tender gentleman from Jackson, Miss., is expected to be up to his usual tricks of villainy this week, even after receiving a beating from Jack Curtis last week in a boxing match. Cronin's viciousness is almost unmatched on this circuit for sheer never - give - up tactics. He lost four matches straight either by disqualifications or no - contest decisions but absolutely refuses to quit his low hricks for a minute.

Last week's boxing match was an outstanding example of his idea of fair play as he threw everything at Curtis but a legal punch. He lost the match anyway when Curtis connected with a roundhouse in the final round.

The tag team match will have a 90 - minute time limit with two falls to win and will be refereed by Pat Willis, Jackson, Miss.

There will be two ten - minute time limit semi - final bouts with opponents from the different tag teams taking on each other. The first semi - final bout will begin at 8 o'clock.

Yankees, Browns Make Even Trade

New York, Nov. 24. —(AP)— The New York Yankees announced today they had acquired Pitcher Jim McDonald from the St. Louis Browns in a trade for Clint Courtney, bespectacled catcher of the Yanks' Kansas City farm club.

McDonald, who throws and bats righthanded, beat the Yankees twice during the 1951 season, and also defeated Boston and Cleveland once each. His best effort was his three - hitter over Boston.

Both players involved in the trade are 24 years old. Courtney, who has been with the Yanks farm system since 1947 when he played with Beaumont and Bisbee, caught 103 games for Kansas City in 1951 and batted .294.

McDonald, a native of Grants Pass, Ore., who now resides in Modesto, Calif., won 10 and lost seven games for Louisville of the American Association at the start of this year. He was traded to the Browns by the parent - Boston Red Sox club, and had a record of four victories and seven defeats with St. Louis from July to the close of the season.

Courtney, a lefthanded hitter weighing 180 pounds, is five foot, eight inches. His winter home is Coushatta, La.

The Yankees are well fixed for catchers, having Yogi Berra, the American League's most valuable player in 1951, plus Charlie Silvera and Ralph Houk.

KAZMAIER HURT, BUT TIGERS WIN

Princeton Stops Dartmouth For 22nd Triumph In Row

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 24. —(AP)—Dazzling Dick Kazmaier played his last football game for Princeton today and his Tigers defeated Dartmouth 13 to 0 for their 22nd straight victory — but Kazmaier suffered a mild concussion that benched him.

The triumph gave Princeton its second straight championship of the informal Ivy League.

The Princeton All - America back was injured in the second period after throwing a 14 - yard pass that put the ball 2½ yards from the Dartmouth goal and set up the first touchdown by Russ McNeil.

Roughing penalties were numerous but none was called on this play as Kazmaier was pounced on legitimately as he threw the ball. He was given a mighty cheer as he walked to the dressing room, but his absence from the game robbed it of most of its sparkle.

Even in the brief time he was on the field, the 171 - pound triple threat star gained 47 yards on 12 rushes, and made 73 yards by completing six out of 12 passes. This brought his grand total for three years of college play to 4,357 yards. His season's total was 1,827. He led the nation in total offense before the game.

As a sentimental gesture, Kazmaier came back into the game in the last 30 seconds of play but he did not attempt to carry the ball. When the game ended his teammates carried him off the field on their shoulders.

Princeton's second touchdown was scored less than four minutes after the second half opened. To set it up, Ted McLain, the big Princeton center, leaped on the ball when Dick Collins fumbled on the Dartmouth six. It was a simple matter for Bill Tryon to pass to Dick Pivorotto in the end zone.

Score by quarters:

Dartmouth	0 0 0 0— 0
Princeton	0 6 7 0—13

Princeton scoring: touchdowns, McNeil, Pivorotto. Conversion, McNeil.

ILLINI STRUGGLE FOR 3 TO 0 WIN

Wildcats Almost Spoil Bowl Trip For Eliotmen

Evanston, Ill., Nov. 24. —(AP)—Illinois, choking up completely deep in touchdown territory, won the Big Ten football title and the Rose Bowl gratuity today by squeezing past Northwestern 3 - 0 on Sam Rebecca's 16 - yard field goal in the second period.

Playing as if they were without anti - freeze in the 25 - degree temperature, Illinois froze up after rampaging beyond the Northwestern eight yard line four times.

Rebecca's three points grew to mammoth proportions as the game proceeded, and eventually Illinois began kicking on third downs in a close - to - the - vest effort to preserve the narrow lead.

Northwestern, in the same situation as a year ago when it surprised the Illini 14-7, nearly repeated a debacle which would have kept Coach Ray Eliot's conservative outfit from the conference crown and the Pasadena junket.

Late in the final period, Bob Burson began a desperate Northwestern passing assault that carried the Wildcats 50 yards and across midfield for the first time in the game.

He hit Dick Alban for 24 yards then Norm Kragseth for 22. Finally, from the Illinois 34, Burson hurled to Kragseth, whose motor was running a step from the goal line. Kragseth, the rangy end, stretched for it. Then, in bolted Al Brosky to snap it up for a touchdown - saving interception one foot from the payoff zone.

The hard - earned triumph was Illinois' first over Northwestern in five years and provided the orange and blue with its first undefeated season since 1927.

Penn Surprises Cornell, 7 To 0

Philadelphia, Nov. 24. —(AP) —Unpredictable Pennsylvania rocked Cornell with a 90-yard scoring burst in the opening minutes today and then never let the enemy come up for air to upset the favored Big Red, 7-0.

The crowd of 40,000 had hardly settled in its seats this damp, miserable day when Bob Clappier, a wee substitute safety man, grabbed a kick on his ten - yard line and squirmed back 55 yards.

On the next play, Sophomore Joe Varaitis, a churning 190 - pound fullback, broke over his left tackle, cut to his sidelines and went 35 yards across the goal line. A fine block by Billy Deuber helped clear the way.

Carl Sempier then kicked the extra point and thus the full ball game was wrapped up in those few dramatic seconds.

Tinsley Clears Bench To Rout Pennsylvanians

By Warren Rogers, Jr.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 24. —(AP)— Louisiana State University turned Villanova every way but loose here today, bashing the visiting Pennsylvania Wildcats 45-7 in a rough, muddy football game.

L. S. U.'s Bayou Bengals, with a dozen players ailing before the kickoff, cleared the bench of all but the lame and halt. Co-Capt. Chet Freeman, who saw last week's game with Mississippi State from a wheel chair, even got in a few licks.

Villanova, a slight underdog, showed no running power against the quick-starting L. S. U. defense. Except for the passing of Bill Brannau, the Pennsylvania Mainliners were never a threat.

Brannau threw three dozen or more tosses, connecting with one for a touchdown. It went 42 yards over-all, with End John Giordane toting across. Tony Colotta placekicked the extra point.

L. S. U.'s Leroy Labat, taking to the gumbo underfooting like a born mudder, shot out from fullback with battering ram force. In one series alone he carried 20 yards, the full length of an L. S. U. touchdown drive in six successive slashes at center.

Perhaps the best executed play of the day resurrected L. S. U. Quarterback Norm Stevens of Picayune, Miss., from the scrub pile. Stevens had been displaced by the dash of freshman Cliff Stringfield. It accounted for L. S. U.'s third touchdown and went this way:

Stevens' clean jersey bobbed into the L. S. U. huddle with the ball on Villanova's 22. He pitched out to soph Charlie Oakley who jigged around end and down the sidelines and—thanks to a key block by soph End Al Guglielmo—waltzed over.

A little later, Stevens whipped a 14-yarder to frosh Dick Prescott for a touchdown. Stevens passed with Villanova's 225-pound Tackle Joe Faragalli wrapped around his middle.

Labat, L. S. U.'s "Black Stallion of the Bayous," spent most of his time pulverizing Villanova's middle.

When not setting up touchdowns, he ran for a couple—the six-play series and another on a two-yard buck.

The other L. S. U. tallies went like this:

Halfback Lee Hedges hit center for one, Fullback Billy West did likewise and frosh End Wrendall Nealy intercepted a pass and ran 22 yards. West place-kicked two L. S. U. extra points, Stringfield got one.

Score by quaters:

Villanova	0	7	0	0—7
L. S. U.	12	12	21	0—45

Villanova scoring: Touchdown, Giordano. Conversion, Coletta.

Hank Lauricella Leads Mighty Vols In Smashing 28-0 Conquest Of 'Cats

Tennessee Grounds Parilli To Take Easy Victory

By Harold Claassen

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 24. —(AP)— Hank Lauricella, a halfback with a naughty wiggle to his hips, and awesome blocking made a Tennessee waltz of the annual football game with Kentucky today, 28 to 0.

The Tennessee star ran, passed and kicked as the nation's No. 1 team, already designated to play in the Sugar Bowl game against Maryland, kept alive its domination over the Kentuckians, who are booked for the Cotton Bowl come Jan. 1. The blue grass team now has tried in vain since 1935 for a victory over its arch rival.

Lauricella was the big gun for Tennessee although he didn't score. He received able aid from such other backs as Bert Rechichar, Andy Kozar, and Bill Barbish, a defensive halfback, who twice swiped Kentucky passes.

These players starred but they could have played in rocking chairs, so violent was the blocking and tackling of the Tennessee forwards.

The combination made it possible for Gen. Bob Neyland, coach of Tennessee, to continue his record of never having lost to Kentucky in 20 contests. During this long period the Wildcats have counted but 24 points.

The defeat was the fourth this season for Kentucky and its great quarterback, Babe Parilli, ended his scheduled varsity career without ever having completed a touchdown pass against Tennessee although the young man has thrown more scoring flips than any player in history.

Tennessee, brilliantly methodical pounded to touchdowns in each period while Kentucky mounted only two serious threats. One died on the 14-yard line and the other on the one-foot line.

Score by quarters:

Tennessee	7-7-7-7—28
Kentucky	0-0-0-0—0

Tennessee scoring: Touchdowns, Payne, Kozar, Kaseta (2). Conversions, Rechichar (4).

JACKETS EASILY THUMP DAVIDSON

Reserves See Most Of Action In 34-7 Rout

Atlanta, Nov. 24.—(AP)—The unbeaten football forces of Georgia Tech, manned ably by nearly a complete lineup of men playing their second game in three days, leisurely rolled up a 34-7 victory over Davidson today.

The victory was Tech's ninth of the year and its easiest milestone on the road to the Orange Bowl in Miami Jan. 1. Only Duke has stood Tech off this fall and that game ended 14-14.

At one time this calm November afternoon Coach Bobby Dodd of Tech had eight freshmen on the field. Five of the eight were stars two days ago when the Tech freshmen defeated the Georgia freshmen, 38-26.

In an effort to keep the score respectable Dodd did not allow his ace quarterback, Darrell Crawford, on the field. Crawford and the remainder of the first string retired to the stands just after the half.

Davidson didn't manage a score until the last quarter. The Presbyterians moved 72 yards on 14 plays against Tech third and fourth stringers and Ham Wade bucked across from the three.

Score by quarters:

It was the first tie in this ancient series, which began in 1875, and had the crowd of 41,000 yelling wildly at the final gun.

Yale, which had led until the final five minutes, rallied to knot the game with only 61 seconds to go.

Corcoran Says P. G. A. Should Quit Tourneys

Miami, Fla., Nov. 24. —(AP)—Fred Corcoran, a golf authority for more than 15 years, proposed today that the Professional Golfers' Association withdraw from tournament management.

He suggested that a national committee of sponsors be organized to set up schedules and approve tournaments.

Corcoran, P. G. A. tournament manager for 12 years ending in 1947, now is managing a tour of professional women golfers. He said he made his suggestion regarding P. G. A. "for the good of golf; I have nothing to gain."

He commented on the resignation of Howard Capps, present tournament manager.

Capps resigned, said Corcoran, "because of political interference — the same situation I experienced while tournament manager.

"Professional tournament golf must be divorced from the politics-ridden P. G. A. and be completely reorganized for competitive golf to survive," said Corcoran.

"The P. G. A. should devote itself to the affairs of its members and sponsor only one tournament a year—the P. G. A. national championship."

Corcoran termed the P. G. A. a "dictatorship" which steps in on a tournament after all the groundwork — plans, publicity, money raising — has been done, and then tells the local sponsors how to run the event.

"Clubhouse lawyers" make things unhappy for all concerned, he added.

Seixas Takes Singles Title In Aussie Event

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Blond Vic Seixas of Philadelphia outbattled young Mervyn Rose of Australia today to win the New South Wales singles championship in a blistering two-hour match and perhaps earn himself a place on the U. S. Davis Cup team.

A crowd of 14,000 cheered the 28-year-old Seixas, America's No. 8 player, as he overcame Rose's early advantage to pull out the sensational victory in five rugged sets. The scores were 4-6, 9-7, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Frank Shields, the American cup captain, is keeping his singles and doubles combinations to himself, but many in the big crowd were of the opinion Seixas would be in the U. S. lineup when his team meets Sweden here Dec. 13-14-15. Sweden won the European zone, the U. S. the American zone and will fight it out for the right to meet Australia in the challenge round starting Dec. 26.

BAYLOR'S TITLE FLAME STILL LIT

Bears Beat S. M. U., 14-13, To Keep Hopes Alive

Waco, Tex., Nov. 24.—(AP)—Baylor's title-hungry Bears staved off Southern Methodist's razzle-dazzle passing and running attack, 14-13, today in one of the roughest games ever seen in the Southwest Conference.

Tempers flared from early in the game until the final gun as Baylor grimly and viciously hung on to its Cotton Bowl hopes.

S. M. U. scored first on an 80-yard drive that got its inspiration when flinging Freddie Benners was injured and removed from the game in the first quarter.

Left Half Henry Stollenwerck got the touchdown on a one-yard plunge after setting the Mustangs aflame with a 33-yard gallop through right guard. His little brother, Sam, kicked the extra point.

Baylor, sluggish in the opening period, scored the tying touchdown after Baylor zoomed 63 yards to the two on a pass from Larry Isbell to Harold Riley.

Baylor drove 51 yards and Fullback Richard Parma tallied from the six to send Baylor ahead.

Bill Forester, last week's national lineman of the week, scored S. M. U.'s second touchdown, but Sam Stollenwerck's try for point was wide.

Baylor must beat Rice next week and rely on S. M. U. to beat T. C. U. in order to become Cotton Bowl host.

Frogs Nab Lead In Tough Southwest Race With 22-6 Triumph Over Owls

Penalties, Bitter Weather Share In Rugged Game

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 24.—(AP)— Texas Christian's slashing Horned Frogs used two blocked kicks, a recovered fumble and an intercepted pass to beat Rice 22-6 today and move into first place in the frantic Southwest Conference football race.

It was a rough and tumble game that probably set an all-time record for penalties in this region. Twentytwo were called for 247 yards, 15 of those yards being stuck on Rice Coach Jess Neely who rushed onto the field at one time to protest a decision.

It was bitter cold and there was a misting rain throughout the game. But the cold was no more bitter than the play as Rice saw its dreams of a championship with "the team that is going to finish last" so rudely shattered.

Danny Ray McKown, the jack-in-the-box Horned Frog quarterback, passed for one touchdown and ran for another. A blocked kick brought a safety and a pass interception by the T. C. U. demon linebacker, Keith Flowers, set up a third touchdown.

A crowd of 25,000 huddled in the stands and gave vigorous voice to the long string of penalties, most of whose yardage was rolled up through personal fouls.

Score by quarters:

Rice	0—0—6—0—6
T. C. U.	0-13—2—7-22

Texas Christian scoring: Touchdowns, McKown, Blair, Floyd, Conversions, Flowers 2. Safety: Blocked punt rolled over goal line recovered by Drake of Rice.

Freshman Leads Upset Of William And Mary

Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 24. —(AP)—Mel Roach, a fabulous freshman quarterback packing poise to spare, sparked Virginia's Cavaliers to an unbelievable 46-0 football triumph over William and Mary's butter - fingered Indians today.

The Cavaliers, held scoreless in the first quarter, started to roll the moment the 18 - year - old sensation trotted out onto the field. That was early in the second period, and it was no contest after Roach made his entrance.

Master Mel crashed over for one touchdown, heaved a 28 - yard pass to End Ray Quillen for another, and booted four extra points. Junior Bobby Pate collected three touchdowns, scoring on five and one - yard drives and grabbing Rufus Barkley's 24 - yard pitch for the other.

Wade To Roderick Pass Saves Vandy

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(AP)— Bill Wade heaved a game-winning 42-yard pass in the fading minutes of the final quarter to give Vanderbilt a 13-7 victory over Memphis State today in a mud-spattered game at Dudley Field.

With the score deadlocked 7-7, Wade spiraled a pass from his own 24-yard line to End Ben Roderick who took the ball on the State 34 yard line and loped the rest of the way for the score.

The play which carried for a total of 76 yards was the most spectacular one of a lackluster contest played in a virtual quagmire.

Score by quarters:

Memphis State	0-0-7-0—7
Vanderbilt	0-7-0-7-13

Memphis State scoring: Touchdown - Cotham. Conversion - Kirmeyer.

Vanderbilt scoring: Touchdowns-Roderick, Wade. Conversion-Foster.

ARKANSAS SPOILS TULSA'S DEFENSE

Razorbacks Crack Through For 24-7 Triumph

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 24. —(AP)— The Arkansas Razorbacks stopped the nation's No. 1 offense in the powered Tulsa 24-7, with a brilliant attack of their own.

Arkansas, upsetter of Texas and Texas A. and M. earlier this season, ran up 10 points in the first quarter and boosted its lead to 24-0 before the heretofore high - scoring Hurricanes tallied in the fourth period.

All three of the Razorback touchdowns came on passes by sophomore Quarterback Lamar McHan, but they, like a field goal by Pat Summerall, were set up by a strong, deliberate rushing attack.

It probably was the big Arkansas line, more than anything else, that enabled the Razorbacks to close their season with five wins and as many loses.

Tulsa, which had averaged more than 382 yards in each of eight previous games was held to 164 on the ground and 99 by passing — 69 of the latter on one play.

Tulsa	0	0	0	7— 7
Arkansas	10	7	7	0—24

Tulsa scoring: touchdown, Dickerson; conversion, Miner.

Arkansas scoring: touchdown, Elton 2, Summerall; conversion, Nix 3, field goal, Summerall.

TULANE SMASHES FOR 48 TO 7 ROUT OF SOUTHEASTERN

Little Hammond Team Easy Breather Before L. S. U.

By Roy Steinfort

New Orleans, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Tulane crumbled tiny Southeastern Louisiana College 48-7 today in a breather football game before the traditional Tulane-L. S. U. battle next Saturday.

Tulane overwhelmed Southeastern with the east of 11 bulls wrecking a china shop.

Powered by a lightweight backfield that averaged about 155 pounds, Southeastern punched at the massive Tulane line in sheer futility.

Tulane rolled to a 27-0 halftime lead and then coasted home with reserves seeing a lot of second half action.

The Green Wave offense, that has faltered and fumbled this fall in losing four of five Southeastern Conference games, worked with comparative smoothness.

Southeastern's lone score came in the third period on a 27-yard pass from Joe Johnson to Ridley Boudreaux, and Don Lambert converted. Tulane didn't waste any time in the first quarter as Max Magee, left halfback, went 45 yards for the first touchdown and then bulled for three to put Tulane ahead 13-0.

Tommy Comeaux kicked one of his six conversions.

Roy Baily bucked from the three for Tulane's third touchdown and the Fullback Charles Daigle uncorked the most sensational run of the game when he intercepted a Southeastern pass and ran 88 yards for a score.

Tulane opened the third period with a 69-yard scoring drive with Ronnie Kent climaxing it on a ten-yard plunge. Ray Weidenbacher and Al Batson scored the final two Tulane touchdowns on short line plunges.

Score by quarters:

Southeastern La.	0-0 -7 -0—7
Tulane	13-14—7-14-48

Southeastern Louisiana scoring: Touchdown, Johnson. Conversion, Lambert.

Tulane scoring: Touchdowns, Magee (2), Daigle, Bailey, Kent, Weidenbacher, Batson. Conversions, Comeaux (6).

How to make old roads seem NEW

PICK a road that you know by heart. Not too good a road. One that has some bumps—some unbanked turns—a tough hill or two.

Then get in touch with us, and let us put you behind the wheel of a Buick, with Dynaflow Drive.*

Now you're all set for a new experience. You'll find out this:

Those bumps seem to lose their bobble. You just take them with a smooth and level stride.

Those unbanked turns don't seem so sharp, and those hills seem almost to flatten out.

How come? Well, a lot of things are different when you travel in a Buick.

You're riding on big, soft coil springs that let every wheel dance beneath you, without passing on the jolts to you in the car.

You're driving a car that's plenty inches broader than it is high—a sure-footed road-hugger if there ever was one.

And you're riding behind a Fireball Engine — Buick's time-tested version of a high-compression valve-in-head—an engine that packs more power than most people ever need to use.

With this power — and Dynaflow Drive* — you don't have to "rush" a hill at the bottom to soar serenely over the top. You just feed the power as you need it — climb with a sure, steady swoop without buck or bobble all the way up.

There's a lot more that we could tell you about a Buick. But such things as room, and comfort, the confident way it steers, and the way it shortens the miles are things you can best discover from personal experience.

So why not follow the routine already suggested? You supply the road—we'll supply the car — and let it speak for itself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

M'GUIRE SLATES $1,500 OPEN TOURNAMENT

TWIN CITY EVENT DUE ON WEEK END IN WEST MONROE

Several Classy Pros Expected For Big Golf Show

While McGuire Park golfers were preparing for their own club championship tourney today, the management of the West Monroe club announced last night the scheduling of its first $1,500 Twin City Open Tournament which will be played over the McGuire course next Saturday and Sunday.

The Twin City Open will be the first such tourney for north Louisiana since the old Shreveport Open back in the '20s and the days of Gene Sarazen who won that event last in 1923.

McGuire's big show is open to any and all players, professionals and amateurs alike. It will be played over a 54-hole route with 18 holes scheduled for Saturday and 36 holes next Sunday.

First place will be worth $500 to the winning professional with 18 pro places to share in the $1,500 purse. There will be appropriate awards for low amateurs.

Pros contacted with favorable prospects include Freddie Haas, New Orleans; Pat Abbott, Memphis, Tenn.; John Stahl, Vicksburg, Miss.; Frank Champ, Lake Charles, and current Louisiana P. G. O. champion.

There is also a possibility that the old master, Byron Nelson, will be here, although McGuire, having extended an invitation to the Lord of the Links, has received no definite committment. Nelson is expected in this area at the time and is considered a good bet to participate.

Henry Costillo, the booming tee shot artist from Alexandria, will be here along with many others, to assure the West Monroe show of a standing second only in the state to the annual New Orleans Open.

The amateur field is expected to include such as Tommy Morrow, Louisiana Open champ; Jimmy McGonagill, state amateur champ; Bert Weaver, ball-powdering L. S. U. star who will be along with the entire L. S. U. team.

Players will be matched in threesomes for Saturday. Then leading players will be paired together for Sunday's windup to give the gallery the full benefit of good golf.

There will be no admission charge for the show, and persons desiring more particulars are advised to contact Louis Whitfield, McGuire's pro.

Today's McGuire Park Club Championship Tournament will be a 36-hole medal play event with the title to be decided in the single day's play. Bill Jones, Monroe, is defending champion, but he will be faced with some rugged competition.

Alexandria, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)— Southwestern Louisiana Institute's basketball team won a 75-51 victory over the Alexandria Air Force Base today, behind the accurate shooting of Earl Young.

Young accounted for 21 points in leading S. L. I. in their second game against the Airmen. The base squad, under former S. L. I. football star George Crowson, won a 45-43 decision a week ago.

The Airmen were paced today by Dick Dill with 16 points. Dill is a former Centenary basketball star.

FLORIDA SPRINGS UPSET ON 'BAMA

Last Quarter Field Goal Breaks Tide's Back

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Nov. 24.—(AP)— Rick Casares' fourth period field goal was the chief blow today as Florida rallied for a 30-21 victory over favored Alabama here.

'Bama took a 21-13 halftime lead and was leading 21-20 when Casares booted the ball through for the three points which put Florida in the lead.

The winners added a touchdown after Bill Wester hauled in a desperate Alabama pass and raced back to the one. The visitors added drama by holding Alabama without gain on four plunges with the ball on the Florida one late in the third period.

It was from that stand that Florida drove 95 yards to set up the field goal. And after the field goal, 'Bama never threatened again.

With Clell Hobson and Bobby Marlow leading the way, Alabama went 82 yards for a score from the opening kickoff. Hobson, who was hurt in the second period and left for the day, scooted the final ten yards.

Haywood Sullivan's passing kept Bama on edge, and set the stage for the Florida runners. Sullivan, a Dothan, Ala., junior, completed nine of 16 tosses for 87 yards. He was especially effective in the second half.

The loss was 'Bama's sixth of the year. No other Alabama team ever lost more than four.

Score by quarters:

Florida ....7—6—7—10—30
Alabama .... 7-14—0—0—21

Florida scoring: Touchdowns, Long 2, French, Sullivan; extra points, Casares 3. Field goal, Casares.

Blasting out touchdowns in the first, third and fourth quarters, the underestimated Bruins earned runner-up title laurels in the Pacific Coast Conference.

Irish Are Lucky To Get Deadlock

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 24.—(AP)— An end zone pass interference ruling in the last 55 seconds enabled Notre Dame's desperate Irish, trailing all the way, to tie underdog Iowa, 20-20, today.

The Irish, playing before their smallest crowd since the war, 40,695, lagged 20-6 entering the final period, but then got two touchdowns on short smashes by Johnny Lattner in a wild aerial circus.

A ruling that an Iowa defender interfered with End Chet Ostrowski on Johnny Mazur's pass into the end zone gave Notre Dame the ball on Iowa's one. On the next play, Lattner smashed through the middle for a touchdown.

CALIFORNIA PUTS CHILL ON INDIANS

Stanford, Prospective Bowl Host, Loses 20-7

Palo Alto, Calif., Nov. 24.—(AP)— Spearheaded by Johnny Pappa, a sub halfback, California's Bears smashed and powered their way to a 20-7 upset football victory over Stanford's Indians today to hand the prospective Rose Bowl team its first defeat of the season.

An overflow crowd of more than 90,000 saw Pappa race 21 yards in the second period for one California touchdown and crack the Stanford line for the last three yards in the final quarter for another.

Left Halfback Don Robison put the Bears into the lead in the opening quarter with a 34-yard touchdown run right through the center of the Stanford team.

Stanford, after being stopped twice on scoring bids, put together a touchdown march late in the final quarter. It was a matter of being too late with too little. California had the 54th "big game" in the bag.

Stanford and their rookie coach, Chuck Taylor, had racked up nine consecutive wins before they went up against their traditional rival today. They were 13-point favorites to go through for a perfect record.

But California came up with one of its finest games. The Bears traveled 86 yards to score after taking the opening kickoff. They went 51 yards on a march starting late in the initial period and ending early in the second for their second touchdown. Both scoring drives were completed on ground plays, sheer power.

It took California 13 plays to complete a 78-yard touchdown drive in the final period. Only one pass was made. Billy Mais, calling a great game at quarterback, threw to Pappa. It was good for 16 yards.

Score by quarters:

California ....7—7—0—6-20

Clemson, S. C., Nov. 24. —(AP)— Clemson, with All-America candidate Billy Hair showing the way, battered Auburn for a 34-0 football victory today before an 18,500 crowd. The smashing victory meant a possible Gator Bowl bid for Clemson against Miami.

Representatives of the Jan. 1 game in Jacksonville, Fla., were in the stands. Sam Wolfson, chairman of the Gator Bowl committee, said an announcement would be made Wednesday.

It was a close game until the final quarter, when Clemson unlimbered a slam-bang four - touchdown barrage. Tailback Hair began the fireworks with a spectacular 19-yard scoring sprint.

Score by quarter:

Auburn 0 0 0 0— 0
Clemson 0 6 0 28—34

CHANGES IN G. I. BILL SOUGHT

Washington, Nov. 24. —(AP)— Rep. Teague (D.-Tex.) plans to start a fight for drastic changes in the schooling provision of the GI bill of rights at the next session of Congress.

It was a wonderful dream," Teague says of the training and educational provisions of the bill, "but it just hasn't worked."

For the last 15 months Teague has headed a specil house committee which investigated abuses in the veterans' training program.

The nine - man committee, set up in September, 1950, will hold the last of its field hearings early in December, at San Diego, Calif. Then it will be ready to make its final report.

Afterward Teague will await a favorable political climate in which to begin pushing a bill to revise the taxpayers $14,000,000,000.

A purple heart veteran of World War II, Teague wants to see the universal military training (UMT) program put into operation and the Korean war ended before Congress tackles the revision job.

Then, the lawmakers will have a better line on the number of veterans who would qualify for the new program. And once UMT is in focus, they will have an idea about what the veteran load of the future program which so far has cost the will amount to.

A review of the committee's hearing record shows evidence aplenty of shortcomings in the veterans' training programs following World War II.

Examples of stories told in the files:

V. A. and state education officials fell down on the job of requiring private schools to meet and keep up to reasonable standards:

Sometimes the failure resulted from connivance between officials and school operators:

There were cases where officials received financial gain from fraudulent operations;

In some places schools were operated under the bounty of the government but didn't require the veterans to attend classes;

Sometimes the schools were approved officially by V. A. employes who then quit their government jobs and became operators under profitable contracts.

All in all, Teague is convinced the committee's investigation has borne fruit.

U. S. CHARGES

sented to American Diplomat Hugh Cumming in Paris, but which Moscow had not made public. Today it was given out by the state department.

The department, which had initially played down the importance of the incident, also made available here copies of the report filed by the United States as the nation exercising the unified command in Korea. It was in these two documents that the sweeping contradictions of the American and Soviet versions became apparent.

The U. S. report to the United Nations said that the two - motored P2V bomber failed to return from a "weather reconnaisance over the Sea of Japan on November 6, 1951" and added that "an intensive search for survivors proved fruitless."

The route of the plane did not go closer than 40 miles to Russian territory, the report continued, and the crew had been "thoroughly briefed not to approach closer than 20 miles to U. S. S. R. territory under any circumstances."

"It can only be concluded," the United States told the United Nations, "that an intentional or unplanned approach to the Russian coast was not made, and the plane was intercepted and attacked without warning while over international waters, and furthermore, while well outside of 20 miles from the Russian coastline."

Two Soviet fighter planes approached the American craft to force it to land on a Russian airport, Gromyko told Cumming, but "the American airplane opened fire on them." This, the Russian claimed, "forced" the Russian fighters "to open return fire, after which the American airplane went off in the direction of the sea and disappeared."

U. S. Soldiers Struggle To Hold Peaks Against Reds

By John Randolph

Seoul, Korea, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Allied infantrymen today grappled hand-to-hand with up to a division of Chinese Reds in an effort to keep their precarious hold on two vital snow-swept peaks in western Korea.

The battle for "Little Gibraltar" and another peak nearby was deep in its second day and still "50-50" in the words of an Eighth army spokesmn.

The ridge line dominates the strategically important area 35 miles north of Seoul. It appeared that staff officers at Panmunjom would not be able to draw their cease-fire line on the western front until the battle is decided.

Both armies, realizing that they were playing for keeps if an armistice line is drawn with 30 days, rushed fresh troops to the line.

The Chinese were using at least two regiments and possibly a division. The Allies kept the size of their force secret, but the importance of the battle might force them to match the Reds.

Fierce fighting raged on the eastern peak, a Gibraltar-like conical crest that dominates the main defensive positions in the sensitive area west of Yonchon.

Less than a mile to the east, across a shallow saddle, another fight almost as savage lasted throughout the night. After a seesaw battle the U. N. troops were still holding the peak at midmorning.

The fighting, although on only medium-height hills, was of the same type and intensity as that on Heartbreak Ridge six wekks ago.

As dusk fell Saturday the Reds threw in their biggest attack yet—probably a full division. The Communists were backed by the direct fire of high velocity rifles from tanks or self-propelled guns.

The battle rose to its greatest pitch yet, and during the night the issue was in doubt.

But the Allies held.

PEACE DELEGATES

said there were "major" differences in the west. He described a major difference as one up to five miles.

Until the line is fixed there can be no further progress on an Allied proposal aimed at completing the full signing of an armistice within 30 days. The 30 days must date from the time the full truce committees approve the cease - fire line.

An armistice by Christmas thus seemed unlikely.

One big reason for delay in agreeing on a cease - fire line was that the old World War I concept of a front — soldiers facing each other in parallel lines across a narrow no - man's land - has no counterpart.

In the truce discussions, the two sides have accepted the "line of contact" as the basis for their talks. For each side, that is the area where its patrols and bigger units get shot at by the enemy.

There are often big differences in the contact lines. Allied infantrymen may move out across a wide no - man's - land valley. Finally, as they near the base of a hill, the Reds open up with machinegun fire and mortars. That is the point of contact — where the shooting starts.

Communist soldiers might move south across the same valley several miles before being fired on. That would be the place indicated by Communist map makers as their line of contact.

The two lines might be miles apart.

his wife of seven years shot him in the heart and lungs. Mrs. Ruby Bynum, 30, is being held by Colorado Springs authorities without charges.

Mrs. Bynum, according to the Associated Press dispatch, told police "something was wrong with his mind. He came back from Korea acting like a psycho."

Mrs. Bynum was reported to have shot her husband as he entered their car and, with his head in her lap, drove him to the police station. Mrs. Bynum told authorities she got the pistol from the glove compartment of the car while her husband was in a grocery store buying bread. She said he had earlier struck her without provocation.

COTTON

New York

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today. Earler during the session the market acted nervous, but slight declines from the day's best levels attracted trade covering and commission house buying. While the market experienced a moderate increase in hedging sales, this pressure was readily absorbed by trade price fixing. There also was a moderate volume of covernig in the near-by December delivery, prior to first notice day next Tuesday.

Futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to $1.00 higher than the previous close.

New Orleans

New Orleans, Nov. 24. —(AP)— Cotton futures advanced nearly $2 a bale here in early trading today but gradually eased from the highs under week end long liquidation and hedge selling. Closing prices were barely steady, 40 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Trading was quiet. Small ideas and reports of a somewhat better demand for spot cotton from mills caused the early buying.

Middling 15-16ths inch spot cotton remained unchanged at 42.05 cents a pound. Local spot sales amounted to 4,947 bales.

THEY BENEFIT MOST FROM YOUR DOLLARS

By A. Chester

Who benefits most from the Community Chest funds? Children. Mostly little children of all ages, races and creeds. Your gift to the Chest each year spreads joy and laughter all over the Twin Cities where children are.

There are those who often forget that most of the nine Chest agencies are almost exclusively devoted to the welfare of children — to character - building, to youth guidance, to voluntary discipline that is the hearthstone of American character.

It is easy to find an excuse not to give to the Community Chest, but it is not easy to laugh off the responsibility and the obligation that the grown men and women of our generation owe to the children who will be the adults of the next.

A Monroe businessman said recently that he had almost forgotten that he owed the happiness of his own childhood largely to men and women who gave from their hearts to the public and charitable institutions of that day.

"I suddenly realized," he said, "that someone was paying the freight for me when I was a child and later a growing boy. I came to the conclusion that I must now give back what I took from other people's generosity, so that children of today and tomorrow can enjoy the same benefits, privileges and pleasures that I enjoyed."

Actually, seven of the nine Twin City Community Chest agencies have as their prime purpose the welfare of boys and girls. The Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Monroe Maternity Clinic, Red Shield Boys' Club Young Women's Christian Association, parent-teacher health and welfare program and the West Monroe recreation council do nothing but serve the youth of the area. Only the remaining two, the Salvation Army and the colored community welfare deal with adults as well as children.

So, for your Chest pledge made now, thousands of Twin City boys and girls will next year for twelve whole months have supervised training, wholesome play and recreation, gainful knowledge of the arts and crafts and nature.

If, by any chance, the Chest volunteer has missed you in the solicitation that is going on, won't you fill in the little pledge coupon below and mail it to the Twin City Community Chest, Post Office Box 789, Monroe, La. You will gladden the heart of childhood and, what is more you will be paying back a debt you incurred as a girl or boy when someone else gave for you!

I would like to pledge $......to the Twin City Community Chest and have you bill me as follows during 1952, ( ) monthly; ( ) semi-annually or ( ) annually.

Coal Miners Get Orders From Lewis

Washington, Nov. 24. —(AP)—Coal miners are under new orders from John L. Lewis against conducting wildcat strikes.

The order, adopted at a meeting of the United Mine workers executive board here recently, are being circulated in the coal fields.

They say that a "wave of unauthorized local strikes or work stoppages" in the past year has endangered stability of the coal industry and hurt the union's reputation for living up to its contracts.

Lewis, U. M. W. president, was understood to have engineered the resolution throught the executive board with the comment that unauthorized work stoppages violate contracts and will not be tolerated.

The resolution informs coal miners that such walkouts "result in strained labor relations" with mine owners and can only result in the demands from the owners for "punitive clauses in wage agreements," or penalties for contract violations.

The demand for an end to unauthorized walkouts was signed by Lewis and other top union officers and ended with this wording, which in union practice amounts to a command:

"We express the hope that the policies outlined herein will be followed in the best interests of our organization and our membership."

The resolution said that the union's contracts provide grievance procedures for handling miners' gripes. It said wildcat walkouts unnecessarily cause earnings losses for miners and their families, and financial losses to owners of unionized mines.

The union's present contracts run until next spring. The mines are generally busy this year because of a heavy domestic and foreign demand for coal.

NOTED BAPTIST LEADER IS HERE

Dr. J. D. Gray Voices Views On Appointment Of Clark

Dr. J. D. Grey, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said here Saturday that "in opposing the naming of General Mark Clark as ambassador to the Vatican, Protestants are appealing for religious tolerance, but also enter an appeal for the retention of the sacred liberties guaranteed under the Constitution."

Dr. Grey is in the city attending a meeting being conducted at the First Baptist Church in West Monroe.

In commenting further on the situation Dr. Grey asserted that the step was a violation of the American principle of religious freedom and separation of church and state. "These standards are our pride and glory and under this Catholicism, Protestantism, and Judaism have witnessed tremendous growth, which would not have been possible otherwise."

President Truman took the step of attempting to appoint Clark as ambassador only as a political maneuver in order to gain Catholic votes for his administration, asserted Dr. Grey, and therefore he has placed the honorable members of the United States senate in an awkward position.

Dr. Grey called upon every patriotic American — Catholic, Protestant, and Jew to oppose the appointment of Clark and defend our heritage of a "free church in a free state."

The president of the Southern Baptist Convention attended a White House conference recently, composed of 75 civic and business leaders, President Truman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and military leaders. "We were given to understand at this meeting that the peace talks in Korea were encouraging, but that American has to build up her defense program," said Dr. Grey. We were also told that "the United States in the past, with respect to defense has had two speeds, a great army and no army at all. For the next 30 to 40 years we will have to keep up a strenuous defense program."

Dr. Grey, pastor of the First Baptist Church of New Orleans since May, 1937, is a native of Kentucky and is a graduate of Union University and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. Union University conferred the honorary degree of doctor of divinity on Dr. Grey in 1938.

He served two terms as president of the Louisiana Baptist Convention and three terms as president of the Southwestern Seminary Alumni Association. In 1949 he served as first vice-president of the Southern Baptist Convention and is a member of the executive committee of the Baptist World Alliance and is listed in "Who's Who in America."

Youth Turns Fly To Avoid Arrest

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(AP)—A 17-year-old youth became a "human fly" to escape from a police lockup last night.

He clawed his way from window sill to window sill to reach a fire escape ten floors above the ground.

Recaptured at his home four hours later, the Negro youth, Maurice Williams, said he defied the dizzy height simply because "I wanted to get out."

Williams had only the three-inch window ledges, spaced three feet apart, for footholds. He arched across the gaps by digging his fingers into crevices in the brick wall.

He leaped the last seven feet of his journey to the fire escape.

MONROE LITERARY CLUB MEETS AT THE LOTUS CLUB

Mrs. Douglas Kelly and Mrs. J. E. Baugh were hostesses to the Monroe Literary Club at its regular meeting held at the Lotus Club. Mrs. W. T. Ellis presided over the business session.

Each member answered roll call with an interesting fact about Russia. Mrs. Thomas Jett, who is active in the civil defense program, asked that this club participate in the program adopted by other local federated clubs, in securing money for CARE packages for Korea. Members were asked to solicit funds in the A and P Grocery on North 3rd St. the week prior to Thanksgiving.

Mrs. D. A. Altick, program chairman, prsented Mrs. Thomas Jett, who reviewed "Red Masquerade" by Angela Calamiris. She gave all the actual facts leading up to the membership in the Communist Party, and then told how the meetings are held, the work done there, and what is required of each individual member. The climax of the book was the arrest and conviction of the leaders of the party, due to the testimony and evidence secured by the author. This is a true story and should be read by every American.

Miss Doris Elizabeth Roe Weds Thomas Henry Young

First Baptist Church Is Setting For Impressive Candlelight Service

An impressive double ring ceremony united Miss Doris Elizabeth Roe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Roe, of Monroe, and Thomas Henry Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Young of Bastrop, on Sunday, November 18, at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist Church of Monroe, with the Rev. James T. Horton officiating.

Myriads of burning cathedral tapers, white giant chrysanthemums, and fern created an effective background. Pedestal baskets of fern and chrysanthemums flanked each side of the altar. Burning tapers tied with white satin ribbon adorned the aisle down which the bride walked.

Hal Q. Laymon and Calvin B. Folds lighted the tapers, while a lovely program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Florence Allbritton. The selections were: "Calm as the Night", "Song to an Evening Star", "Romance", and "Liebestraum".

Mrs. Bobby Wilson, who sang "I Love Thee" and "Because", preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer", following the ceremony, was accompanied by Mrs. Allbritton. The traditional wedding marches were used and "Claire De Lune" was played softly during the ceremony.

Mrs. Allbritton wore a white gown with a pink carnation corsage and Mrs. Wilson wore a black net with corsage of pink carnations.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Calvin Folds, and the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Lou Alpha, Miss Marion Simmons, and Mrs. Robert Hardin, wore identical gowns of peacock-blue. The dresses were fashioned with tight basques and stole effects, with tiers of net over the bouffant skirts. Each wore taffeta bandeaus of autumn leaves overlapping each other with a becoming veil dropping just below the eyes. The bridesmaids' bouquets were of large pink fuji mums and small pink palm mums tied with pink satin ribbon.

Little Miss Sharon Alpha and Miss Mary Elizabeth Folds, flower girls, wore pink net over taffeta with drop shoulder effect. They wore head pieces trimmed with full net ruffles, and carried white baskets trimmed with peacock blue ribbon and small pink palm mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her exquisite wedding gown of white bridal satin and imported lace. The bodice was fashioned with a high neck featuring lace appliqued over satin with tiny satin covered buttons down the back and long tapered sleeves of lace ending in lily points over the hands. The full skirt extended into a long court train. Her finger tip veil of bridal illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of lovely imported lace with tiny white violets. She wore the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a white yellow throated orchid on a white Bible. from which fell sprays of lily of the valley and white satin streamers.

Robert John Wills served as best man. Others attending the groom were: Oren Robertson of Bonita, Calvin Folds, Hal Laymon, and Allan Coates.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Roe chose a model of black lace over pink taffeta. Her hat was of pink feathers. She wore black lace gloves and accessories of black. Her corsage was a pink glamelia.

Mrs. Young wore a dress of teal blue lace over taffeta, with light yellow accessories. Her corsage was of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Greeting the guests at the door was Miss Virginia Scheen. In the receiving line were the bride and groom, their parents, and feminine members of the wedding party.

Miss Ella Pearl Sutton was in charge of the bride's book.

White chrysanthemums, magnolia leaves, and white candles were placed at points of vantage throughout the house. The bride's table, covered with an exquisite handmade linen and lace cloth, was centered with an array of graduated sterling silver candelabra. Button mums were tied by white satin ribbon to each candle stick. Fern, entwined with small chrysanthemums, added a decorative detail to the bride's table. Mrs. Oren Robertson, sister of the groom presided over the punch bowl, in which floated a double ring of button mums molded into a heart of ice. At the other end of the table was an elaborate three-tiered wedding confection, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Individual cakes and mints, decorated with bride's roses, were passed among the guests on gleaming sterling silver trays by: Miss D. L. O. Puckett, Miss Rose Mary Colligan, and Miss Carolyn Swain, who were attired in striking formals.

Mrs. Ruth Hundley, a close friend of the bride, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Hundley was wearing a becoming black and white dinner dress.

For her wedding trip to the Ozark mountains and Kansas City, Missouri, the bride chose a grey wool suit. Her hat was a lovely felt creation of peacock blue, with attractive pearl trim. Her other accessories were of black. She wore a corsage of white yellow throated orchids.

Out of town guests included: Mr. Barney Roe, Junior, brother of the bride, Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Lee, Mrs. Jim Lee, Mr. Tommy Lee, and Mrs. Norma Lee of Kansas City, Missouri.

Miss Martha Roddey Bride Of Lon Stephens Heuer

Wedding Of Popular Young Couple Takes Place Saturday At First Presbyterian Church

A lovely wedding of November was that of Miss Martha Ann Roddey and Mr. Lon Stephens Heuer which was solemnized Saturday, November 24, at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Prysbyterian Church.

The Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor, officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Columbus Roddey of this city and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. Scott Heuer and the late Mrs. Maurine Barnes Heuer of St. Louis, Mo.

Forming a beautiful setting for the exchange of nuptial vows were slender white cathedral tapers burning from a myriad of candelabra against a background of waxy magnolia leaves. Magnolia leaves were tastefully arranged along the alter rail with large pedestal baskets filled with white Calla lilies and spregeri fern.

Preceding the ceremony a concert of organ music was rendered by Mr. Leon Hammond who accompanied the soloists, Mrs. Robert Wood, as she sang "At Dawning" and Mr. Garland Shell who sang "Because." The traditional wedding marches were used before and after the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a wedding gown of antique ivory satin with sculptured bodice and bouffant skirt which ended in a sweeping train. It featured a Chantilly lace capelet and overlapping pleats which accentuated the illusive train. A chapel length veil of imported Belgian embroidered lace fell from her Juliet cap of ivory satin. She carried a bouquet of white Calla lilies centered with a white orchid. Satin streamers of tube roses flowed from the bridal bouquet.

Miss Betty Louise Roddey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Cretney, Mrs. J. R. Eunson, Mrs. Albert Clary, all of Monroe, and Mrs. Edward Sanford of New Orleans.

They wore identical gowns of apple - red velveteen with fitted bodices, a picture frame neckline accentuated by stiff lace flowers centered with pearls and full skirts. Their headdress was of matching velveteen and styled the same as the bride's. They carried bouquets of white Calla lillies tied with white satin ribbon.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Arthur Heuer of the University of Virginia. The groomsmen were Charles Roddey, brother of the bride, of Artesia, N. M., Roy Johns, Richard Troy, Stocker Fontelieu, Frank Breese, William Riley and William Bassett, all of Monroe.

Mrs. Roddey, mother of the bride, chose a floor length model of cotillion blue crepe trimmed in blue lace with long white kid gloves. Her ensemble was complemented by a lavender orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Lotus Club. Attractive arrangements of magnolia leaves, and chrysanthemums were placed at vantage points in the lobby, while Calla lilies, white candles and magnolia leaves graced the piano and mantle in the reception rooms. Leading into the reception suite were also placed arrangements of the chrysanthemums, where the bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Roddey, Dr. Heuer and members of the wedding party greeted the guests.

The bride's table, overlaid with a handsome lace cloth, was centered with an unusual arrangement of individual wedding cakes placed artistically on a cake stand bearing a gathered white tulle skirt. Tiny bouquets of mums and tube roses surrounded the edges of the skirt. Streamers of white satin attached with nosegays of the same flowers trailed from the cake stand, flanked on both sides with candelabras. The picturesque decour formed a background for the embossed double ring wedding cake joined by small clusters of pink sweetheart roses and tulle.

The wedding cake was presided over by Mrs. Charles Roddey. Mrs. Fred Fudickar, Jr., presided at the bride's book. Assisting in serving the courtesies were Miss Sarah Terzia, Miss Magdalen Amman, Mrs. Jack McClure and Mrs. Herbert Land, Jr.

The bridal couple left on a wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga. For traveling the bride was wearing a grey suit and romance red hat. Her other accessories were white gloves, with black suede shoes and purse. A white orchid completed her ensemble. Upon their return from their wedding trip, the couple will make their home at 1105½ North First street.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School. She attended Brenau College in Gainesville, Ga., where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and is an active member of the Junior Charity League. The bridegroom graduated from John Burroughs School in Clayton, Mo., and received his degree in architecture from the University of Kansas. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and Scarab scholastic society. During World War II, he served as an ensign in the navy civil engineering corps and is now associated with Ford, Bacon and Davis as an architect.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Dr. Scott Heuer of St. Louis, Mo., Arthur Heuer of the University of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. William Thayer of Baton Rouge, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. DeShields of Montgomery, Ala., Mrs. Marie Anderson of Montgomery, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roddey of Artesia, N. M., Mrs. Eddie Sanford of New Orleans, Miss Betty Roddey of Shreveport, Bonds Martin and Alma Martin, of Houston, Tex.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. McHenry and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Godwin were hosts at the rehearsal supper following the rehearsal of the Heuer-Roddey wedding on Friday night at O. Z. O. plantation. The table from which the buffet supper was served was centered with white daisies and fern. Southern smilax, magnolia leaves and daisies were placed at vantage points throughout the dining room.

Enjoying this occasion with the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Otha C. Roddey, Dr. Scott Heuer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roddey, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Eunson, Mr. and Mrs. William Riley, Mr and Mrs. Bill Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Breese, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johns, Miss Betty Roddey, Mrs. Albert Clary, Mrs. Edward Sanford, Miss Elizabeth Cretney, Mr. Arthur Heuer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood, Mr. Garland Shell, Mr. Leon Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. William Nadler, Miss Margaret Gardner, Mr. Stocker Fontelieu and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. N. Girl Scout News

Did everyone enjoy the Thanksgiving holidays? Need we ask? We are thankful, too, for all our privileges, including the right to belong to a democratic volunteer organization like the Girl Scouts.

The weather cooperated beautifully for the playdays Monday and Tuesday and the Scouts were so busy and active in the sunshine that they didn't get cold. Intermediates at Ki Ro Li went on long hikes, practiced firebuilding, made two big pots of cocoa to go with their nosebag lunches, sang around a camp fire and otherwise enjoyed being together in the out of doors. A fire-building contest to see which patrol could make their fire burn through a string stretched between trees caused a great deal of excitement and fun.

A flag raising ceremony in front of the American Legion building started off a happy day for the more than a hundred Brownies who enjoyed games and singing in Tuesday's sunshine. Mrs. L. C. Noland was in charge of the singing and Mrs. Leonard Bassett in charge of games, which included relays for the different age groups and lively circle games. Several troops demonstrated games they had learned and which everybody then joined in. Such old favorites as clothespin and three-legged races and "Rabbits in a trap" kept everybody warm.

Brownie troop 3 helped Penny Achord celebrate her eighth birthday at Brownie meeting at Central Baptist Church recently. Mother brought the birthday cake and all the trimmings and a gift of a brand-new uniform for Penny.

Mrs. Kitchens and Mrs. Freeman are leaders of this new troop.

The fifteen girls of Troop 14 went on an overnight last week during the school holiday. These girls under the direction of Mrs. Louis Turner and Mrs. Robert Easterling have been preparing for the big occasion all fall by carrying out activities in Campcraft and Backyard Camper badges. That's the way it should be done, progressing from simple out door skills to the ultimate goal of an overnight. No, it doesn't get too cold for Scouts to go camping when they have learned how to dress properly and to make a bedroll for cold weather. More and better camping of all kind is one of the present goals of the local council. We'll pass on details of Troop 14's trip as soon as we can hear from them.

With the Red Feather campaign in full swing, we hope all Scout families and friends are doing their part, remembering that Girl Scouting is a Community Chest Agency.

Annie Louise Speed Is November Bride Of John W. Cupit

Tallulah, La., Nov. 23.—(Special)—On Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 at the Methodist church, Miss Annie Louise Speed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham Speed became the bride of Mr. John W. Cupit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Cupit of Winnsboro. Rev. Alton A. McKnight officiated at the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated for the occasion with potted palms and an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and fern. Burning white tapers in tall branched floor candelabra cast a soft glow on the wedding scene. The candles were lighted by Miss Lynn Richards, cousin of the bride, who wore navy and a corsage of red carnations, and her brother, Robert Speed.

Mrs. Vernon R. Thompson at the organ rendered a program of appropriate music as the guests were arriving and accompanied Miss Polly Speed of Vicksburg who sang, "I Love You Truly" and Miss Alta Gwynne Garrison, who sang, "Because". Soft music was played during the exchange of vows and the traditional wedding marches marked the beginning and end of the ceremony.

Miss Virginia Ann Sanders of Vicksburg, cousin of the bride and her only attendant wore a pale rose faille suit with black accessories and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a pale aqua suit with which she wore brown accessories and carried an orchid on a prayer book. The groom had as his best man, Mr. James Marvin Fletcher of Winnsboro and Mr. James E. Young and Mr. Richard S. Burnside served as ushers.

The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip and on their return will make their home here where Mr. Cupit is connected with Young's Funeral Home.

Chicago bound is state 4-H canning winner Thelme Lee Parsons! Wearing a chic red velveteen suit with black accessories she boarded Illinois Central Thursday night. Thelma Lee joined twenty-five boys and girls from Louisiana who will represent the state at the 30th National 4-H Club Congress. The group will be royally entertained by various commercial companies. Audrey Dawson's excellent training helped Thelme Lee win this trip to do honors for Ouachita parish.

No! Please don't transplant your roses now. Read your extension rose bulletin, page 11. February is the best time. I've gotten more than a dozen calls this week from you yard workers, wanting to change the rose bed now. Transplant your other shrubs and leave your roses until later.

Really, that group of fifty-two Gray Ladies was an impressive sight at their second anniversary party. My! But they are busy at this time of year, buying presents so that every person in the homes for the old will get a Christmas gift. Every home will have a party too.

Tony Veazy's living and dining rooms look like a picture. She really treated those rooms with an artistic hand when she redecorated. Like a lot of our homes built about twenty odd years ago — Tony has too many windows and doors. To keep the rooms from having a cut-up look she treated the walls, woodwork and curtains in one continuous color. The effect of spaciousness is amazing. Rooms look much larger, too. Of course the color is blue. Don't you associate that color with Tony? A woman must express her own personality and taste in her home.

Congratulations Sardis Home Demonstration Club. Juanita Rutledge, president, accepted the silver coffee service presented each year by Mr. G. E. Tyner to the most outstanding club in the parish. Mr. Tyner said in part: "This many people working together cannot fail to make Ouachita parish a better place to live." Euna Spielman directs the activities of all home demonstration clubs.

Say! All of you with garages facing the street. I have a new idea from a professional landscaper. Paint the inside of the garage black. Then you can't see the inside unless you're at close range. (You know we're always going to start keeping the doors closed—tomorrow.)

Tune in next Sunday. I'll have a nifty recipe bulletin to offer you.

Good-by—See you next Sunday in this same column.

News From The Public Library

Have you visited your branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library lately and examined the new books offered to the public? If not it pay you to make such a visit. Some of the new books are very interesting and exciting.

New titles for readers of mystery stories sound very gruesome. They are"A Client is Cancelled" by Richard Lockridge; "Pagoda" by James Atlee Phillips; "The Cat And The Capricorn" by D. B. Olsen; "Contraband" by Cleve F. Adams; "Ticket To Oblivion" by Robert Parker and "Murder In Blue Street" by Frances Crane.

Readers of historical novels will welcome the following titles: "The Golden Circle" by Frances Robertson is a story of espionage during the Civil War; "The Last Englishman" by Hebe Weenolsen is the story of Hereward the Wake who was truly the last Celtic ruler of England; "The Lute Player" by Norah Lofts is a story of Richard the Lion Hearted and the Crusades. It is a fascinating story of a period, but does not present Richard in a very flattering light; "Captain Barney" by Jan Westcott has for its period the War of 1812. This is a story of high adventure and should be especially popular with men.

There are many readers who prefer stories with a contemporary setting. They will enjoy "The Celebrity" by Laura Hobson; "The Man Who Sold Christmas" by Rosalie Liberman; "The Conformist" by Alberto Moravia; "The End Of The Affair" by Graham Greene; "The Fortune Tellers" by Berry Fleming and "A Father In The Family" by Louis Paul.

Mary Laswell had a devoted following who have read with great pleasure about Mrs. Feeley, Miss Tinkham and Mrs. Rasmussen in "Suds In Your Eye," "High Time" and "One On The House." They will be glad to know that there is now a fourth story in this series "Wait For The Wagon." A poignant story that will touch the heart strings in "Where Nests The Water Hen" by Gabrielle Roy. This is a story of a French Canadian family and the desire of the mother to get the best things in life for her children. "Out From Eden" by Victoria Lincoln is considered her best novel since "February Hill." It is a story of an artist and his family. It has to be read to be believed. "The Serpent Wreathed Staff" by Alice Tisdale Hotbart is a story of two brothers who were doctors and their split on the question of socialized medicine. Mrs. Hobart writes well and her stories alway s have the ring of authenticity. This is an engrossing tale.

Among the new books are several which will appeal especially to the young people. "Class Ring" by Rosamond Du Jardin is the kind of story that every teen-ager dreams about. "The Football Gravy Train" by Frank O'Rourke is an expose of the practice of hiring football players. "The Sword And The Compass" by Margaret Leighton is a novel based on the life of Captain John Smith. "This Pleasant Lea" is a delightful story with an Irish setting.

Religious books are one of the most popular types in the library. "The Master" by Max Brod is a powerful novel based on the life of Christ. "The Greatest Book Ever Written" by Fulton Oursler is a story of the Bible. "Handbook of Denominations" by Frank Spencer Mead is a very clear exposition of the beliefs of various churches. "The Life We Prize" by Elton Trueblood is a most inspiring statement of belief.

Most people are interested in books that will help them in their daily life. Getting along with the people with whom we live is a most important phase of our life. The library has a number of new books of this self-help variety. They are: "Living With Our Children" by Lillian M. Gilbreath. She is the mother of "Cheaper By The Dozen" and certainly should know about children. "The Art of Clear Thinking" by Rudolph Flesch is a most valuable book in a world where there is so much muddled thinking. "The Health of The Mind" by John Rawlings Rees is a valuable contribution to the art of living sanely and wisely. "The Art of Being A Woman" by Amabel Williams-Ellis contains some wonderful advice for women.

Your public library is waiting to serve you. Take advantage of its resources at once.

Fur Coat Mixup At Country Club

Attention ladies who attended the party Wednesday night at the Country Club : Check your coats! !

Some lady who went to the party wearing a fur short coat apparently went home donning a mink, belonging to someone else, obviously by mistake, according to Clark Upp, manager at the club.

When the owner of the missing mink went to the cloak room after the party her coat was gone. She refused to accept the unclaimed fur wrap.

"I feel sure the switch was a mistake and feel that the mink coat will be returned," Upp said. He said the exchange to the rightful owners could be made at the Country Club where the unclaimed coat still remains.

Food Suggestions For November Are Given

"Foods that are plentiful are good buys" states Mrs. Mildred Swift from your L. S. U. Extension Department. "Best buys for November are apples, cranberries, grapes, oranges, fruit juices, cabbage, celery, spinach, lettuce, onions, potatoes, squash, rutabagas, sweet potatoes, turnips, fryers, eggs, pork, cheese and fish."

The agent states there is a new turkey on the market. It is a turkey that can be produced in a few weeks and can be put on the market the year round. It is a plump, tender bird, much smaller than the usual run of Thanksgiving turkeys. They are called "turkey-fryers" or "turkey-broilers" but they are also roasted. These turkeys weigh 4 to 8 pounds when drawn and may be fried, country-fried, oven-fried or roasted. The very small turkeys (2 to 3 pounds dressed) may be broiled.

Mrs. Swift gives this lunch menu using plentiful foods:

Cream of Potato Soup; celery—cheese toast—apple and grape salad—spice cake—milk.

Cream of Potato Soup
(serves 4)

3 medium potatoes, cubed.
3 onions, sliced.
1-½ tablespoons butter or margarine.
1-½ tablespoons flour.
2 cups milk, scalded.
1 cup vegetable water.
2-3 teaspoon salt.
1-8 teaspoon pepper.
1 teaspoon parsley, chopped.

Boil vegetables in water to cover, until tender. Drain. Save water. Put vegetable through a sieve.

Make thin white sauce with butter, flour, milk, and vegetable water.

Add sieved vegetables, salt, and pepper; blend.

Reheat.

Sprinkle parsley over top.

Mrs. David Garrett Hostess At Colonial Dames Meeting

Christmas Party For Children's Ward Is Topic Of Discussion At Fall Meeting

The fall meeting of the Monroe Committee of the Colonial Dames was held in the home of Mrs. David Garrett. A coffee hour preceded the business of the meeting which centered largely around the publication of the cookbook, "To A King's Taste" which will be on sale this month. A committee was appointed to handle publicity and sale; Mrs. William King Stubbs, Mrs. Robert Layton and Mrs. James C. Liner.

Proceeds from sales of the book will be used for the restoration of Gunston Hall in Washington, D. C., the home of George Mason, author of the Virginia Bill of Rights and one of the framers of the constitution of the United States. Sharing with the Colonial Dames in this project are the state of Virginia and the Garden Club of Virginia. People visiting Mount Vernon have reached a million a year. When this charming Georgian house in its beautiful setting is restored it, too, will be a visual aid in keeping alive democratic principles.

Mrs. James R. Wooten, chairman of historical activities, brought a photostat copy of a very early map of this district extending along the Ouachita river from Bosco to the present Country Club addition. She reported an early map missing from the court records and asked the help of the Dames in locating it. Mrs. Charles Mitchell reported that copies of early records of Ouachita parish could be had from Seville, Spain through the Library of Congress. This map, together with some early records will be sent to the National Society. Colonial records will be placed from time to time on shelves of the Ouachita Parish Library.

Powell Martin Barrett Unit No. 37 American Legion Auxiliary Meets

Lake Providence, La., Nov. 20. (Special) Theme of the November meeting of Powell Martin Barrett Unit No. 37, American Legion Auxiliary was Americanism, as presented by the chairman Mrs. William Muirhead. The Americanism work of the Auxiliary includes all activities tending to perpetuate American ideals and to uphold the principles of American democracy. "The security of America lies", stated Mrs. Muirhead, "in a citizenry in whose minds and hearts is ingrained a true understanding of and love for those ideals and principles upon which the nation was founded."

Working on a five-point program, active Americanism in the home; active Americanism in the Unit; active Americanism in adult groups; and active Americanism in the community, Mrs. Muirhead and her committee members had planned an Armistice Day program for one school in East Carroll parish, had printed and distributed 300 copies of the national anthem, had contacted three high schools requesting observance of Armistice Day with programs; had written 90 business firms asking cooperation in displaying flag and enclosed guide on days for displaying the flag. Carl Brupbacher, Lake Providence band director, had cooperated with the committee by presenting a patriotic pageant at the half time of the L. P. High - C. H. A. game. During American Education Week, pamphlets, flag code and etiquette were given to public school administrators for parish-wide distribution to school children and faculty. Articles were published in the local weekly headed "Know Your America". Work was progressing with Girl Scouts and Brownies, with membership steadily increasing. Their work was on handicraft and selling Christmas cards to raise funds for a trip to the state capitol and to New Orleans, next summer.

In community service work a donation of $5 was made to the East Carroll Parish Allied Youth Post; plans made to decorate a float for the Christmas parade; round up blood donors for the Red Cross blood bank; assist in the polio March of Dimes throughout January 1952, and the mothers' march on polio. IN MOVIELAND

Hollywood, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Glancing at the week's news in movietown:

The president of the theater owners of America has declared that one of the biggest problems of film house owners today is "more and more roadshows." Some moviegoers are beginning to agree.

In the Los Angeles area, for example, there are seven films being advertised at advanced prices. Patrons are forced to pay premium prices to see these pictures. Most of the films were made at average budgets, so it can't be argued that the upped scale is necessary to defray the cost.

The principle of the road show has long been attacked by some observers who argue that movie patrons are expected to take the good with the bad throughout the year. Then, when a superior picture comes along, the patrons are required to pay extra for it. . . .

My, how times change. A couple of years ago, you would never expect the king of one studio and the queen of another to be off salary. But that's true today. Betty Grable and Clark Gable are not drawing their weekly stipends from 20th-Fox and MGM, respectively.

Award for optimist of the week goes to slugging Frankie Sinatra, the newlywed. The crooner did his first television show for the west coast this week and invitations were sent out for a cocktail party for his friends of the press. I'm told that both of them showed up. .

Eye-openers on the cost situation was offered by figures on "The Fourposter." The picture was filmed on one set with two (count 'em) players — Rex Harrison and Lilli Palmer. Cheap, you think? The bill came to $600,000. . . .

Best news of the week was the announcement that Mary Pickford will be returning to pictures. Today's youngsters may not have seen her on the screen, but their parents remember her as a symbol of a pleasant era. . . .

Speaking of Grable reminds me of the report that Marilyn Monroe, the atomic-age pin-up queen, will star in the recently purchased "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." Miss Monroe thinks she's going to get the role. Miss Grable hasn't been heard from, but you can expect fireworks. . . .

Red Skelton is adding some much-needed laughs to TV programming. But it must pain him to hear those chestnuts he is offered in the guise of gags. I wondered what had happened to the old line of the reporter saying, "I'm Brown from the Sun." It turned up on Red's show. . . .

Uruguay is smaller in area than South Dakota.

The story is told of Mary of Bethany that she went to a shop to buy a box of ointment. The man in charge showed her a box, but she said that she must have something better. He showed her a second box, but even that was not good enough. The third box, costly as it was, did not seem sufficiently worthy. Then the merchant said, "I have a box, but its price is so high that I do not dare to show it to you." "That is what I want," she said; "there is nothing too good for my Lord."

ST. MATTHEW'S IS IN HOLIDAYS

Sodality Group Members Spend Free Time Visiting Families

Thanksgiving holidays at St. Matthew's started with genuine American spirit Wednesday, when members of the Sodality group took advantage of the free time to visit families of the underprivileged and to deliver to them baskets of can goods and chicken, in an effort to make their Thanksgiving dinner enjoyable. Prefect Sally Hays, Vita Marie Jacola, and Vita Marie Jacola and Vincent Marsala were the messengers of good will.

Tuesday will be a gala day in the school's schedule for on that occasion, the entire school wll honor Father Marsh with a program in the gymnasium, celebrating his birthday and his name day.

Among those attending the teacher's convention in Shreveport, were Sister Philomena, superior and principal of the grade department, Sister Patricia, principal of the high school, and Sister Aloysius, instructor in music at St. Matthew's.

Visiting sisters to St. Matthew's during the holidays, from Shreveport, and Lake Providence were Sister Joan of Arc, Sister Mary Louise, Sister Ann Marie, and Sister Marietta. Mrs. S. Parisy, mother Sister Mary Louise and Sister Adrian was also a guest of the St. Matthew's sisters over the week end.

Six weeks tests are just around the corner at the school. In the high school these periodic examinations will extend from Wednesday through Friday of the week, November 25. In the grade department there will be a like program. And so it goes, in this world of stress and effort to get an education and thus become better and useful citizens in this great land of ours.

CHURCH PICTURE WILL BE SHOWN

Memorial Methodist To Lay Foundation For Revival Meeting

Memorial Methodists will be laying the foundation for their revival this Sunday night when they see a film produced by the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church and filmed in Hollywood by a top-rank studio. The film, "Reaching From Heaven," has had a wider showing than any other religious film of the last two years. It is a full length movie on real life evangelism and stewardship with a running story at one and the same time "dramatic, Christian, romantic, and exciting."

The evening church service will begin at 7:15 instead of 7:30.

In advertising materials sent in advance of the showing, the viewers are asked to "let this sensational new film show you how a loving God reaches down from heaven to comfort and help the people of this earth." "In the most profitable hour you will ever spend, let this film impress you, in a compelling manner, with the grace of personal evangelism in action," the advertising pleads.

The public is cordially invited to attend this evening service.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby

When to Take Discard Pile

"The player at your right discards a card that you can meld," states a San Francisco correspondent. "Under what circumstances is it wise for you to draw from the stock pile instead of taking the discard pile?"

It is very often the right play when the discard pile contains only four or six cards. It is usually the right play when the discard pile contains only two cards.

Notice the even numbers. If you have picked up the discard pile last, it will contain four cards when it comes around to you again. If your partner has picked up the discard pile last, it will contain two cards when it comes to you for the first time, and six cards when it comes to you the next time.

In general, you refuse to take the discard pile only when your side is in such control of the situation that you expect to get it later on anyhow. This means that you or your partner has taken the pile last.

It is quite different if the opponents have picked up the pile last. Then you are eager to get even a small number of cards so as to meld and either compete for the pile or meld out quickly. This means that you would pick up a discard pile of three, five, or seven cards. You might even pick up a discard pile of only one card.

These principles apply only when at least one side has melded. At the very beginning of a hand, before either side has melded, you are seldom interested in a discard pile of only one or two cards. But you are interested as soon as that pile contains four or more cards. After all, a first pile of four cards may allow you to make the initial meld and still retain ten or eleven cards in your hand.

It almost never is wise to pass up a discard pile of eight or more cards. A possible exception occurs when both opponents are down to only three or four cards and are obviously struggling to go out and are being forced to make dangerous discards.

In this situation you pick up the discard pile only when it contains some very useful cards. Otherwise, you continue to draw from the stock pile in the hope of drawing the natural or wild cards that will help you make canastas.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

FIRE ALARMS

The West Monroe fire department extinguished three grass-fires and one car conflagation Friday.

The grass-fires occurred between the hours of 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.

Engines No. 1 and 3 doused the car fire at 8:06 p.m. located at 300 Lee St. Cause of the fire was reportedly a leaking carburetor which ignited when the owner, Walter Willis stepped on the accelerator.

Small damage was reported to have been incurred.

OCTOGENARIAN—Former Vice President John Nance Garner, soon to celebrate his 83rd birthday, shells pecans at table on back porch of his Uvalde, Tex., home.

DOROTHY DIX

Make Peace Now

Reader Cites Case Where Regret Came Too Late

DEAR MISS DIX: Why is it that people always repent too late? I know an elderly man who recently lost his wife. He was heartbroken and can talk of nothing but how lovely she was, what a wonderful mother, etc. What he has forgotten, apparently, is that he made the poor thing's life one continuous round of misery. He was bad-tempered, profane, stingy, even abusive. Perhaps that is why there are so many lonely old men and women in the world. In youth they were so selfish, temperamental and miserly they couldn't keep friends. Do you agree?

EMMA J.

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: Your friend's case is, unfortunately, not unusual. Ofttimes the loudest mourners at a wake are those who through ill treatment contributed most to the deceased's passing. Neglectful children can weep torrents of tears over the grave of a parent for whom they hadn't bought a gift in months and for whom they seldom had a spare moment or kind word.

No greater peace can come to a soul than to put a loved one to his eternal rest, secure in the knowledge that in life he knew no default of love or devotion.

DON'T WAIT

Why wait, readers, for regrets until it is too late to ease your own conscience? Life is uncertain; who knows when the last chance for atonement will come?

Begin now to put yourself at peace with the world. Make up petty quarrels with your neighbors; be reconciled to members of your own family to whom you have not spoken perhaps for years. If the distance between you is too great for a meeting, a telephone call or letter will work wonders. Be kinder at home, look for reasons behind your mate's irritability. Illness or business troubles he doesn't want to bring home may lurk behind the scowl that greets you. Be patient with him.

Husbands, be more considerate of your wives. As full and satisfying as the job of bringing up children is, it can also become very wearying. Money for a new hat or piece of furniture, an unexpected trip to the movies, a few flowers bought just because you love her, will send the spirits of any wife soaring to the skies.

Remember the old folks at home! Don't let them get lost in the shuffle while you concentrate all efforts on the generation you are raising. In a few years you'll be in the old guard yourself.

Take your charity a little farther afield from home. Don't be sparing with kindness to those about you. To be at peace with the world is a great gift, and you can bestow it upon yourself!

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 23 and have been going with a gentlemen 31. He is in love with me, treats me with every consideration and is very kind. He wants to marry, but although I have been seeing him for a month, I am not in love with him. I appreciate his thoughtfulness, and admire, but do not love him. Should I give him a chance to win my love by continuing to go out with him, forget him or marry him just for his good points?

R. P.

ANSWER: First of all, a month is scarcely time to become accuainted much less to fall in love. Love doesn't always come at first sight; sometimes it takes quite a bit of coaxing. Since your friend is endowed with so many admirable qualities, why not be frank with him? Tell him you haven't known him long enough to love him, but that you admire him and enjoy his company. If he is satisfied with the possibility of winning you, continue the friendship.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a girl friend who is very dear to me. My mother will not let me go to her home because several of her uncles have died of tuberculosis and her father is said to have it. My mother lets her come to my home (not too freely, and I can't tell my friend why I can't visit her. As I'm only 14 I like to have fun with girls my own age.

DORIS

ANSWER: In order not to judge the case too harshly, your mother should have a talk with your family doctor on the situation. If his conclusion agrees with mother's, why not tell your friend frankly why you cannot go to her home? Illness is something no one can help and your mother's concern for you certainly shouldn't be held against either of you.

DOROTHY DIX gives the pros and cons of ending a marriage in leaflet D-2, "Divorce." To obtain a copy, send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Miss Dix, c/o this newspaper, P. O. Box 98, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial are molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you"—form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

How do we value

Our Children?

The inscription "Our children are our only treasure" over the entrance to a famous children's hospice and is the sentiment of every good father and mother.

We treasure our children, as parents do. We plan for them, work with them, play with them and sacrifice to give them advantages. We are proud of them. What would we not do for their happiness?

An appalling increase is in juvenile delinquency and a lowering of ages at which youth are being committed to prisons for major felonies, in spite of this devotion. The remedy is not better secular schools, not more play grounds, not youth centers, as worthy as these facilities are, but more basic religious instruction, both in the home and in the church.

If we fail to provide spiritual training, are we putting proper value on "our treasure?" This responsibility extends beyond the home. It includes the neighbor's children, the community's youth.

The Church is the prime agency for this service. Through its Church school! Through its young people's organizations! Through worship at the Holy altar. To meet these juvenile problems the Church must have wholehearted support. "Of such is the Kingdom of God."

• JACOBY ON BRIDGE

With Cause to Think, Player Makes Slam

By Oswald Jacoby

When the national championships are played in Detroit during the first week of December, many bridge players all over the country will be wondering just how good the experts are. The answer is that they vary somewhat, just as some big league baseball players are better than others. All of the experts are pretty good, however, chiefly because they have trained themselves to think clearly and carefully at the bridge table.

Today's hand, played at a recent national championship, shows the sort of thinking that goes on when expert meets expert. The hand was played at many tables, and in most cases South got to six diamonds. This was a very reasonable contract, of course, depending only on "finding" the queen of diamonds.

At some tables the West player opened the ace of hearts. At these tables, the South player reasoned something like this: "Why did West open an ace against the slam contract? Did he have reason to believe that his ace would go to sleep if he failed to take it at once? Or did he have a possible trump trick, and was he therefore cashing a side ace to make sure of setting the slam?"

In each of these cases South felt fairly sure that West had no sound reason for feeling nervous about his ace of hearts. Each of them therefore decided to finesse through West for the queen of diamonds. The finesse succeeded, and the slam was made.

At a few tables, West was sure that to open the ace of hearts would cause South to guess the location of the queen of diamonds. North's jump to five diamonds indicated that a high diamond would turn up in the dummy, so West could tell that declarer would be able to finesse in diamonds if he wanted to.

At these tables, therefore, the West player opened the nine of clubs. Dummy won with the king of clubs and returned the jack of hearts for a pretended finesse. West therefore got his ace of hearts and could exit safely with another club. In each of these cases the slam was set when South misguessed the trumps.

In short, some declarers made the slam by careful thought. And some defenders defeated the slam by giving the declarer nothing to think about.

Q—The biddin has been:

East, 1 Heart; South Pass; West 2 Clubs; North Pass.

East 2 Hearts; South Pass; West 3 Hearts; North pass.

East, 4 Hearts; South Pass; West Pass; North Pass.

You, South, hold: Spades Q-7-5-3, Hearts 6-5-4, Diamonds J-10-9, Clubs J-8-2. What do you lead?

A—Lead the jack of diamonds. The contract will be defeated only if your partner has a fine hand. He can probably lead spades just as effectively as you can, but the chances are that the diamonds are best attacked from your side of the table.

Today's Question

the question just answered. You, the question just answered. ou, South, hold: Spades J-8-2, Hearts J-5-4, Diamonds A-Q-7-3, Clubs 7-3-2.What do you lead?

Our Children

DON'T CROSS BRIDGES

Being a parent today is no bed of roses. Money goes just so far and there are so many things to think about, the needs, the hopes, the fears, that it is easy to become scared and begin clutching at life trying to hold it back or push it off while one worry follows the other in quick succession. What is to become of the children if this upsetness continues? What will they do if this or that catastrophe falls upon them? How to provide for them?

Better calm down and leave tomorrow to its own cares, the future to its own fate while we attend to today. This is the day we have, twenty - four hours of it coming along by ticks, minutes, hours. As each comes and passes something changes, either in us or in our surroundings, and we cannot do much about many of them. But we certainly can do a lot with what we have and with our own minds.

We can use our minds to think about how much there is to enjoy in today. The sun rose and will continue to warm and hearten the world as usual. The sky is lovely, serene, eternal. Just to look up into its depths is to ease the burden we are carrying concerning the future. Tomorrow is not ours to do with but today, now, is in our hands and it is beautiful.

The children are safe and well. They are going to school, learning more than we believe possible. They are playing and learning again. They are becoming thoughtful and useful and in their turn will carry on. Their future is not ours to decide. Why not enjoy them today, just as they are, instead of trying to see them years hence in a world we cannot picture?

There are certain things we must accept or be miserable all our days. Life is never sure; happiness is always fleeting. There is a shadow to mark each shining day, each happiness. Nothing in this world lasts forever but life is eternal. It will continue but not as it is today, nor this hour. Why protest about that? Why not hold fast what good, what joy, what hope there is in today and trust for tomorrow?

So many tomorrows have merged into todays in this old world, so many generations have come and gone, all with the same worries, the same anxieties, the same concern for the future over which nobody has the slightest control, that experience should have taught us the futility of taking thought for it.

What we can do, we do. The duty of the hour, well fulfilled, brings the greatest security we can hope for, a contented mind. The same power that created the universe and has kept it safely until now, still governs and blesses His work. Live trustfully, joyfully today. Why spoil the good that is in hand by fear for that to come?

Convalescent children must be guarded against fatigue. Dr. Patri gives his excellent advice in leaflet P-7, and also lists many games and ways of occupying their minds. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Private First Class Elzie E. Hamilton, infantry, U. S. army, was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action against the enemy near Kumsong, North Korea on 18 October 1951. The presentation was made at the 343rd General Hospital in Japan on 31 October 1951 by the hospital's commanding officer, Colonel W. S. Pugh.

Private First Class Hamilton's aunt, Mrs. James Hamilton, resides at Bailey st., Monroe, La.

Two brothers, George P. Moore, 22, from San Antonio and Johnny R. Moore, 20, from Rayville, La., joined forces today by enlisting in the air force at the San Antonio army and air force recruiting and induction main station.

According to T.-Sgt. Louis Coultress, recruiting sergeant, the two brothers wanted to serve together and thought volunteering would be the best way to do it.

George, who listed his address at 325 Crockett St., was assistant manager at the Mid-Town Roller Drome and worked part time as a carpenter. Johnny had been living with his parents in Rayville.

Both airmen will be assigned to Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio for basic training.

Camp Roberts, Calif., Pvt. Maxwell Hilton Tolbird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Tolbird, of West Monroe, La., is now receiving specialized training in the 7th armored division's radio operator's school at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Camp Roberts, home of the 7th armored division, is located midway between San Francisco and Los Angeles, thirty miles inland from the Pacific ocean. Main mission of the division, which celebrates its first birthday since being reactivated on November 24, 1950 is to train combat infantry soldiers.

Harrison, Jr., manager of the Monroe office, and Merlon Dunn, staff worker, have accepted positions with Brown-Root Construction Co. Mr. Harrison is now located in Mississippi and Mr. Dunn in Ohio.

Replacing Mr. Harrison in the office here is Col. Cud T. Baird, who received a promotion from his previous position of field representative-investigator for the agency. Mr. Dunn has not yet been replaced.

2. DO RICH PERSONS OFTEN GET "RAILROADED" TO MENTAL HOSPITALS BY RELATIVES? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. SHOULD PERSONS PAST RETIREMENT AGE BE PERMITTED TO CONTINUE WORK? YES ☐ NO ☐
© 1951 by John F. Dille Co.
R.T. CHATTON

1. TEEN-AGE GIRL ASKS SHOULD SHE KISS HER DATE MERELY BECAUSE HE HAS BEEN A GOOD SPENDER? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer To Question No. 1

1. No. This isn't precisely a lovelorn column, girls, but never kiss a boy to pay for anything. It cheapens the whole evening. One writer advises: "Kiss only the boys you love, and you'll never kiss very many." You won't go far wrong if you kiss the three or four boys you fall in love with during your teen-age years. One thing sure, if you kiss too easy, it "gets around."

Answer To Question No. 2

2. No, according to psychiatrist Faye C. Lewis who says this "railroad" plot is good for fiction, but that the notion it occurs often in real life is absurd. More than half the hospital beds today are occupied by mental patients and there are tens of thousands who should be there and want to be. Practically everybody needs mental counsel occasionally just as he needs medical advice. I need a lot of both, and don't hesitate to seek it.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Yes, said sociologist Phillip Hauser at a recent conference on problems of old age. Provision for the employment for older persons — and not pensions and idleness — is the "master key" to the problem, he maintained. He claimed it would be difficult to devise a more costly system to produce manpower waste and throw heavier burdens on both industry and younger workers than that of merely providing an arbitrary retiring age on pensions instead of maintenance of employment.

New York —AP— Small business is crying "help" again. The plight of the small businessman has aroused much sympathy. But the small businessmen themselves would like less sympathy — and more orders.

One of their spokesmen is Herbert Barchoff, 36 - year - old vice-president of the Eastern Brass and Copper Co., a metals warehouse and processing firm.

"The small businessman today is bewildered by restrictions on the use of basic metals — brass, copper, aluminum and steel," he said.

"He can't get enough material to continue full manufacture of consumer goods. He can get material to work on defense contracts—but he isn't getting these defense contracts fast enough to stay in business.

Barchoff said there are "thousands and thousands" of small firms faced with suspension of operations.

"It is an odd thing to say," he remarked, "but they are being hurt more by a percentage war than in an all-out war. In an all-out war the government needs things in a hurry, and the contracts filter down quickly to their level.

"There were a lot of casualties in the last war. Some of those who survived then, say they are having even tougher going now.

"They're drowning. Any number won't be able to survive until the third quarter of 1952, when the government hopes to release additional quantities of aluminum and steel for civilian use."

Barchoff held a pioneering "shirtsleeve conference" at his own plant last summer to attack the problem. He brought together government officials, representatives of big business, and hundreds of small businessmen. Similar regional shirtsleeve conferences are planned throughout the country.

"But we need to get together a basic organization to filter down contracts to small business firms faster," he said. "That will still salvage some."

Major government agencies dispensing defense contracts now have units to deal with small business. But Barchoff feels they should be consolidated into one outfit.

"Then the small businessman could go to a single place instead of being pushed from pillar to post," he said. "The average small businessman is discouraged by red tape. He gives it up as hopeless. He can't afford to go to Washington and fight for a contract. He simply goes out of business."

Another possible solution, Barchoff feels, is regional pools of small businessmen organized to handle major contracts.

"But the main trouble up until now is there simply hasn't been enough government ordering.

Pointing out that a great percentage of contracts had been concentrated in a relatively few big firms he added:

"There is no real clash between big business and small business. They need each other.

"But many big concerns today—in order to rake up the slack resulting from cuts in their own civilian production—are doing themselves the work they used to send out to small subcontractors. Government officials also have been slow to allocate contracts, hoping to get later technological benefits.

"But the result is the same—the small businessman is going under. And our whole economy can be upset if we lose small business."

FUNDS UPPED FOR BOWLING ALLEY

At a call meeting Saturday night of the Hudson-Leehy Post No. 3993, VFW, it was announced that in the two weeks since plans for a 10-lane bowling alley were first inaugurated almost one-fourth of the amount needed for the alley has been raised.

A. M. Hobbs, junior vice - commander of the post, said that $4,125 had been invested in the project already and plans for the bowling alley give $20,000 as the amount needed for its construction. Hobbs stated that "actually more than the $4,125 had already been raised, but some members of the organization were unable to attend and the tabulation is not complete."

Over half of the amount collected could be credited to a single man, who is not even a member of the post, Hobbs said. "Pop" Harris, an enthusiastic bowling fan, has collected $2,200 of the money.

Hobbs said the bowling alley plans met with the general approval of the public and, with the backing of the major bowling leagues in the Twin Cities, that the bowling alley is becoming a reality.

Robert L. Kirkpatrick, commander of the post, pointed out that the money collected for the bowling alley is in no way a contribution as those who place their money in the proposition will receive at least a four per cent interest from the profits each year.

Tentative plans for the bowling alley include a modern building with ten bowling lanes, a snack bar, and many other improved ideas. The alley will be built on Natchitoches street in West Monroe occupying the lot on which the VFW hall now stands.

The alley will be open to the public and the proceeds will be used to pay off the interest on investments in the bowling alley.

KOKINOS BROTHERS

Gus Kokinos, standing, Monroe business man, is entertaining his brother Sprios Kokinos, seated, of Corinth, Greece, in his home on South Grand street. Sprios, who arrived in the States last week, is visiting the United States for the first time and in a manner is bewildered over the many comforts and luxuries which he finds. In a small villiage called, Stenton, he operates a grocery store and is amazed to find in stores here the shelves filled with every kind of food imaginable, which in Greece could not be bought if one was a millionaire. Greek Visitor Here Impressed With U. S.

Spiros Kokinos, Who Arrived Last Week From Athens, Is Dazed Over Splendors Of America

By Yvonne Brett

Sprios Kokinos, 70-year-old brother of Gus Kokinos, Monroe business man, arrived here last week and states that he is still somewhat dazed with "everything in America."

Gus Kokinos, acting as interpreter for his brother, who speaks only Greek, relayed during the interview his brother's thoughts on the different questions which were asked.

"The people of Greece look on America as the country which God has blessed with everything, he commented, and then added that if his country were not receiving aid from the United States government they would be under Communist domination at the present time."

"Our country is returning to its normal statue at the present time, but we have in the office of president a man who is a Communist, but the people have not reverted to his policies and we hope during the next election to see that this office is cleaned of all Communist influence," said Kokinos.

Sprios Kokinos, owns and operates a grocery store in a small village in Corinth, Greece. He quotes prices as being high and food hard to obtain. "If it weren't for the Marshall plan the country would be starving," asserted the groceryman. The only fault which we find with the plan is that no administrators are sent along with cargoes coming from the United States and politicians divert a large portion of the food from its original course, Kokinos added.

The aged grocer, who is a very active man in spite of his age, has seen much of the terrible sufferings and hardships of war. His son, James, was killed during World War II in the service of the Greek army, and his home was burned by German troops in a raid upon the Greek underground movement during the occupation.

During the recent Greek Civil War he served as a civilian guard in his town. In commenting upon the Communist atrocities in Korea, Kokinos told of his experiences in Greece four years ago.

"The Communists had captured our town and took 435 civilians as hostages. My daughter and myself were among those held. When Stenton was liberated we were among the 50 who survived the execution. The others were slain with a heavy instrument, "like cattle," and their bodies thrown off a cliff into a valley. I think the only reason we were not killed along with the rest was because the executioner had stopped at our house once and we fed him."

Sprios Kokinos spends a lot of time in Athens where his son, John is a Greek government official and his daughter-in-law an instructor. She is a graduate of the famed Solonika Conservatory of Music.

In ending the interview the aged Greek said that he was "well impressed with the wonderful and friendly people of America and hoped that his country could work toward becoming more like America in every way."

RATE PAY BOOST FIGHT EXPECTED

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 24.—AP—A rate boost battle between shippers and rail, truck and barge carriers is predicted when Louisiana's public service commission holds hearings in New Orleans Dec. 12-13.

Commission Secretary Clayton Coleman said today the carriers, acting independently, are asking a straight six per cent rate increase because of rising costs of operations.

They seek intrastate rate boosts within Louisiana similar to recent increases granted by the interstate commerce commission.

Scheduled to appear at the public hearing in the St. Charles Hotel on Dec. 13 are representatives of the state's 38 railroads, petroleum-carrying truck lines and the common carrier barge lines.

Coleman predicted stiff opposition would spring from Louisiana shippers, particularly from sugar cane and gravel interests.

On the opening day, the commission expects to hear a request by the railway express agency for a permanent rate increase amount to about 30 cents per 100 pounds on first and second class shipments. The rate increases asked include other classes of shipping.

Coleman explained that a temporary increase of 20 cents a package was granted the express firm in July.

'You Never Can Tell' Coming To Joy, Hits New High In Laugh Field

If you were never a dog or a race horse in another life you'll want to see Dick Powell, Peggy Dow and Joyce Holden in Universal-International's "You Never Can Tell," which opens a three-day engagement at the Joy Theatre Thursday.

It's the hilarious story of a police dog who is left $6,000,000 by an eccentric millionaire, gets poisoned, goes to animal heaven and returns to earth as Private Eye Dick Powell to track down his murderer. There is plenty of laughter in this fantastic situation and Powell never looked handsomer as a German Shepherd.

The dog is played by the most intelligent canine to hit the screen since Strongheart. In fact, it's Strongheart's grandson five generations removed, and his name is Flame. When Powell takes over where Flame leaves off the dialogue becomes the most rib-tickling heard in these parts for a long time. Powell is a breezy gumshoe always quipping and eating kibble, not the usual grim type character he has been playing of late.

Peggy Dow, as the private secretary to the millionaire, plays the perplexed beauty caught between animal heaven and the hell of being suspected of poisoning a dog for a fortune. She handles her exacting role with deep sincerity and topping good humor.

The supporting cast is especially delightful. Handsome Charles Drake does his best to get Peggy but just misses by courtesy of Dick Powell. Joyce Holden gets the big break of her career in "You Never Can Tell," as the race horse who is reincarnated into a beautiful southern blonde and accompanies Powell back to earth as his private secretary. Miss Holden definitely proves in this comedy role that when Universal - International signed her as a comedienne they knew what they were doing.

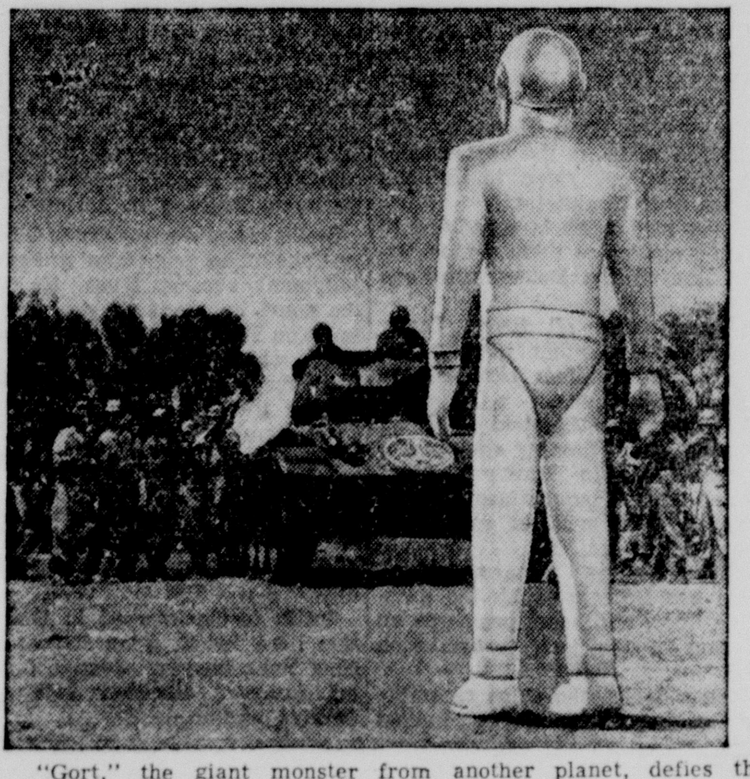
Lou Breslow directed from his original script and manages to keep the delightfully whimsical sequences from going overboard when Powell walks the line between animal and human.

Producer Leonard Goldstein is to be highly complimented for a movie which is gay, charming and unusual.

THURSDAY AT THE JOY

Popular Dick Powell and lovely Peggy Dow are starred in Universal-International's new comedy hit, "You Never Can Tell," which features Joyce Holden, Charles Drake and Albert Sharpe. "You Never Can Tell" is the riotous story of a police dog who is left $6,000,000, is murdered, goes to animal heaven and returns to earth as Private Eye Dick Powell—in search of his own murderer. Lou Breslow directed.

'GORT' DEFIES AN ARMY



"Gort," the giant monster from another planet, defies the United States Army to stop him in Twentieth Century-Fox's astounding science-fiction thriller due Wednesday at the Paramount theatre. Michael Rennie, Patricia Neal and Hugh Marlowe are featured in this interplanetary adventure.

Interplanetary Thrillers Provide Unique Problem In Science Film

'The Day The Earth Stood Still' Coming To Paramount

Julian Blaustein, whose "Broken Arrow" and "Mr. 880" boosted him into the ranks of Hollywood's foremost producers, discovered that "westerns" and "comedies" were simple projects in comparison to his present effort, "The Day The Earth Stood Still, a science - fiction thriller jammed with interplanetary tourists, atom - smashing weapons, monster robots from "other worlds," rocket ships, flying saucers and disintegrating rays.

From the outset, this first "A" treatment of a science - fiction theme by a major studio, posed production problems that would have made a lesser individual seek refuge.

First, there was the matter of a full - scale space ship to be constructed. The final result, the brainchild of Set Designers Lyle Wheeler and Addison Hehr, proved to be a flying disk affair spanning 350 feet and costing $100,000. The massive ship stood 25 feet high and since the script calls for no visible opening of any kind in its contour, Wheeler and Hehr incorporated an invisible split in its side which was sealed with soft plastic and coated with silver paint. Every time the disk was opened and closed, workmen had to reseal the split. Through this invisible seam, an intricate gangplank was made to protrude on cue from the director, Robert Wise.

When it came to constructing the interior of the 'flying saucer,' Blaustein permitted the designers' imaginations to run rampant. Clear lucite controls were made to move at the wave of a hand. Dials and charts were carefully calibrated and in the center of the control room they constructed a five-foot plastic bubbele to keep imaginary dust off the instruments. Wheeler and Hehr surrounded all this with corrugated blass walls. Dome shaped, which slide open and shut by means of "harnessed light."

With the space ship completed, the producer's second problem was the construction of a robot man, eight - feet - eight - inches tall. His outer coating made to look like fluid metal, the monster was made to walk and move its hands without moving its arms, giving an eerie half - human appearance. The robot, according to the script, is supposed to be an immovable object and an irresistible force which is capable of disintegrating tanks, guns, men, jail walls and steel - like plastic encasements with its single lucite eye.

His major problems out of the way, Blaustein settled back and put his mind on recruiting the army which meets the space ship carrying the robot and Michael Rennie. He solved this by borrowing tanks from the United States Army, armor and machine guns from the National Guard and hiring two hundred extras dressed as soldiers.

This interplanetary adventure, which opens Wednesday at the Paramount Theatre, and features Rennie, Patricia Neal and Hugh Marlowe, explains its wizardy by claiming that the planet from which the space ship hails is 5,000 years more advanced than earth. The way Hollywood is going in the pseudo-scientific department, however, the differnece may be fast narrowing down.

Living Cost Index To Allow Pay Boost

Washington, Nov. 24. —(AP)— The government's cost of living index, due to be announced today, probably will yield a pay boost of at least a penny an hour to 1,000,000 auto workers.

The big auto manufacturers, under contracts with the CIO Auto Workers and CIO Electrical Workers, have agreed to pay a cent more for every rise of 1.14 points in the index. If the index goes down, workers' pay drops at the same rate. Auto workers already have gained 20 cents an hour since the arrangement first was set up by General Motors Corp. in May, 1948.

Today's index is for price levels of Oct. 15. The Sept. 15 index was about 186 per cent of the 1935-39 level.

The wage stabilization board has given advance approval of any boosts which come from cost of living contract provisions such as that in the auto industry.

Advise That Yankee Demos Be Mum On Civil Rights

By James Free

Washington, Nov. 24. — If northern Democrats will stop playing politics with civil rights and join in efforts to achieve realistic progress, the threatened Dixie rebellion against the Truman administration in 1952 may be averted, according to two well qualified observers.

Senators John J. Sparkman (D.-Ala.) and Mike Monroney (D.-Okla.) believe that most southerners are willing to agree on a reasonable workable legislative program on civil rights. But they also believe this type of practical program is not what many "big city" Democrats in the east and midwest really want, or would agree to.

"I have felt for some time," said Sparkman, "that if the pressure politics could be taken out of civil rights question, we could make genuine progress."

In a separate interview, Monroney said that the obstacle to an effective civil rights compromise on legislation was not nearly so much resistance from the south as from legislators from other sections.

"More and more southerners," said Monroney, "have indicated willingness to support the kind of compromise sponsored by Representative Brooks Hays (D.-Ark.) for some time. But the question is whether the 'bleeding hearts' backers of more severe measures would go along."

Monroney is inclined to believe that the "bleeding hearts" prefer the unattainable, stringent no-compromise civil rights bills over reasonable compromise measures because there are more minority group votes to be obtained that way.

Sparkman points out that southern Democrats were not the aggressors in the inter-party fight on civil rights in 1948. "You will recall that the platform committee — which included such highly - respected southerners like former Governor Chauncey Sparks of Alabama and Senator Cyde R. Hoey of North Carolina — worked out a very acceptable civil rights plank.

"This plank," Sparkman continued, "was presented to the Democratic national convention," but the substitute plank that caused all the trouble was presented in the form of a floor amendment. It passed by the narrow margin of 651½ to 582½.

"I am hoping that, after all the headaches that the severe 1948 civil rights plank caused, many of the northern Democrats who favored it will see the wisdom of working together rather than fighting on this matter and let us agree on a realistic program that can be put through the congress."

Sparkman said that he has observed increasing signs that southern Democrats want to fight out their differences with other segments of the party within the ranks of the party, if possible.

"There has been a much stronger feeling recently to stay in the party and fight out our quarrels on the national convention floor. That is what Senator Harry F. Byrd urged in his speech in Selma, Ala. He never went beyond that.

"I am hopeful that we Democrats can settle our differences at the convention. If our fellow Democrats in the north and east will concentrate on progress, rather than politics, we can get together on a civil rights program."

V. F. W. TO HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

Gifts To Be Obtained For Veterans Administration Hospital

At the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to Rodney J. Hobbs Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held Thursday night at the V. F. W. club room, final plans were completed for the Christmas party given each year by the post and auxiliary for the purpose of securing gifts to be sent to patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital. It is the desire of the organization that Christmas be made a little happier by presenting gifts to the boys who have given so much for us.

Committees were appointed as follows: Christmas tree and entertainment, Evelyn Webber and Mary Brooks; refreshments, Christine Hendry, Juanita Tynes, Isabelle Mercer, Annie Chance and Carrie Chandler; decorations and gifts, Martha Newman, Aline B. Hunt, Nan McKeithen, Sally Zufall, Willie Mae Austin, Jean Sherman, Barbara Simmons, Irene Semmes, Virginia LaDart, Emma Bower, Maycie Chadick.

The party will be held on Thursday night, December 13th, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are expected to be present and to bring a suitable gift to be sent to the hospital. There are many useful things that can be sent, such as socks, games, candy, cigarettes, stationery, books, tiolet articles, etc. The gift need not be expensive but it must be nicely wrapped. Friends are invited to send gifts. The auxiliary has been asked to make tarlton Christmas stockings for the chief of special services to be used in the Christmas Eve program. Members who were not present at the meeting are asked to contact Mrs. Martha Newman for instructions about making these stockings.

A cash donation will be sent immediately to be used for favors, decorations, candies and nuts. A cash donation was also made to the V. F. W. National Home in memory of A. W. Nichols, brother of Mrs. Isabelle Mercer, whose passing occurred recently at Larto, La. Members are asked to serve at a Salvation Army kettle December 4th.

Plan To Funnel Wasted Gas Into N. O. Industry

Baton Rouge, La., Nov. 24.—(AP)—A multi - million dollar project to pipe natural gas into New Orleans industry from coastal fields 100 miles away is about complete.

This was the report today of Louisiana Conservation Commissioner S. L. Digby.

The huge project, backed by several oil interests, involves:

Three $500,000 floating compressor stations in the marsh country.

A $14,500,000 main to Chalmette.

Plans call for New Orleans markets to receive 50,000,000 cubic feet daily of low pressure gas produced during coastal oil operations, the gas formerly was wasted in flaring.

Now it will be processed and conserved for industrial use, Digby said.

Citing the project as an excellent example of practical conservation, based on cooperation, Digby explained the idea first had to be sold to companies making the large investments.

Leaders in the move, and the first to push the project, Digby added, were J. H. Russell, Gulf Refining Co. vice-president then in charge of Gulf coastal operations, and Ben C. Belt, who succeeded Russell.

Other firms are the Texas Co. William Helis, Tide Water Associated Oil Co. and Humble Oil and Refining Co.

United Gas Pipe Line Co. laid a 16-inch main up the east side of the Mississippi river to United's station near Chalmette.

Digby said work is scheduled to begin soon on an eight - inch lateral line to the Lake Hermitage field.

Several other oil firms, Digby said now are either planning or negotiating to effect similar savings of natural gas.

Digby meanwhile, told of Gulf's "ships," huge, floating compressor stations, built in Beaumont, Tex., hauled to Plaquemines parish marshes, and sunk at convenient operating points.

These "ships" remove water from gas brought in by the gathering lines, and boost pressures up to that of the long transmission line.

Below decks, the ships resemble submarines, with large ballast tanks to permit submersion. They are anchored, once they are in place.

Digby said each station can dehydrate about 15,000,000 feet of field gas a day. The water content is cut from 72 pounds per million feet to less than seven pounds.

Designed by Gulf, the sea-going plants are geared to prevent pollution and have explosion - proof motors.

The overall project, Digby stressed, two years in planning and construction, shows "good conservation is good business." He predicted wasteful gas flaring in Louisiana soon would be cut to an "irreducible minimum."

DEWITT SMITH SEEKS $60,000

West Monroe Man Brings Action In N. Y. State Supreme Court

New York, Nov. 24.—(Special)—DeWitt Smith of 1801 Trenton St., West Monroe, moved in state supreme court here today to recover $60,480 from David Muss of New York, money Smith says he lost when the latter failed to go through with an agreement involving the sale of the wooden trestle of the Bermuda Railway in Bermuda.

Smith asked Justice Denis O'Leary Cohalan to grant him summary judgment against Muss. He told the court he made an oral agreement on May 25th, 1948, with Muss, under which the latter was to deliver the lumber which had made up the trestle at Gulfport, Miss., by September 30th of that year.

Muss, according to Smith, failed to deliver.

The New York man has denied the charges that he breached the agreement, pointing out that the arrangement was only oral.

Smith is represented in the action here by E. John Ernst, Jr., New York lawyer. Justice Cohalan reserved decision today on Smith's motion.

RABIES THREAT IS YEAR 'ROUND

Belief That Hot Weather Makes Dogs Mad Is Mere Superstition

New York, Nov. 24.—(AP)—Now is the time to prepare for mad dogs and the risk of rabies from their bites.

The belief that the hot, summer dog days have any connection with mad dogs is just a superstition. Rabies runs the year round, but it increases in late winter and spring.

The preparation is something the U. S. public health service would very much like — namely to vaccinate all dogs. This is the only measure which will stop the disease.

In most areas the public is indifferent, until a rabies scare strikes near home. Then there is a clean-up. Meanwhile in other areas nothing has been done.

Last year nine persons died of rabies in the United States and 7,901 animals. Many wild animals died without getting into the census, which is kept by the federal security agency, public health service, communicable disease center, veterinary public health services.

Getting rabies is more alarming than you think, because it does not necessarily strike you down quickly. Many months afterward when you may have forgotten even that you were bitten, rabies can come on and kill. It seems to depend on how bad the bite and on the person. In last year's human deaths the quickest rabies came on in about two weeks, and death in two to four days illness. In these quick cases immediate administration of rabies vaccine did not the least good.

The long delayed rabies cases are numerous. A boy on the way to school was bitten by a stray dog. It was a minor wound on his hand. Nothing was done for him. Five months later he came down with rabies. He died in four days.

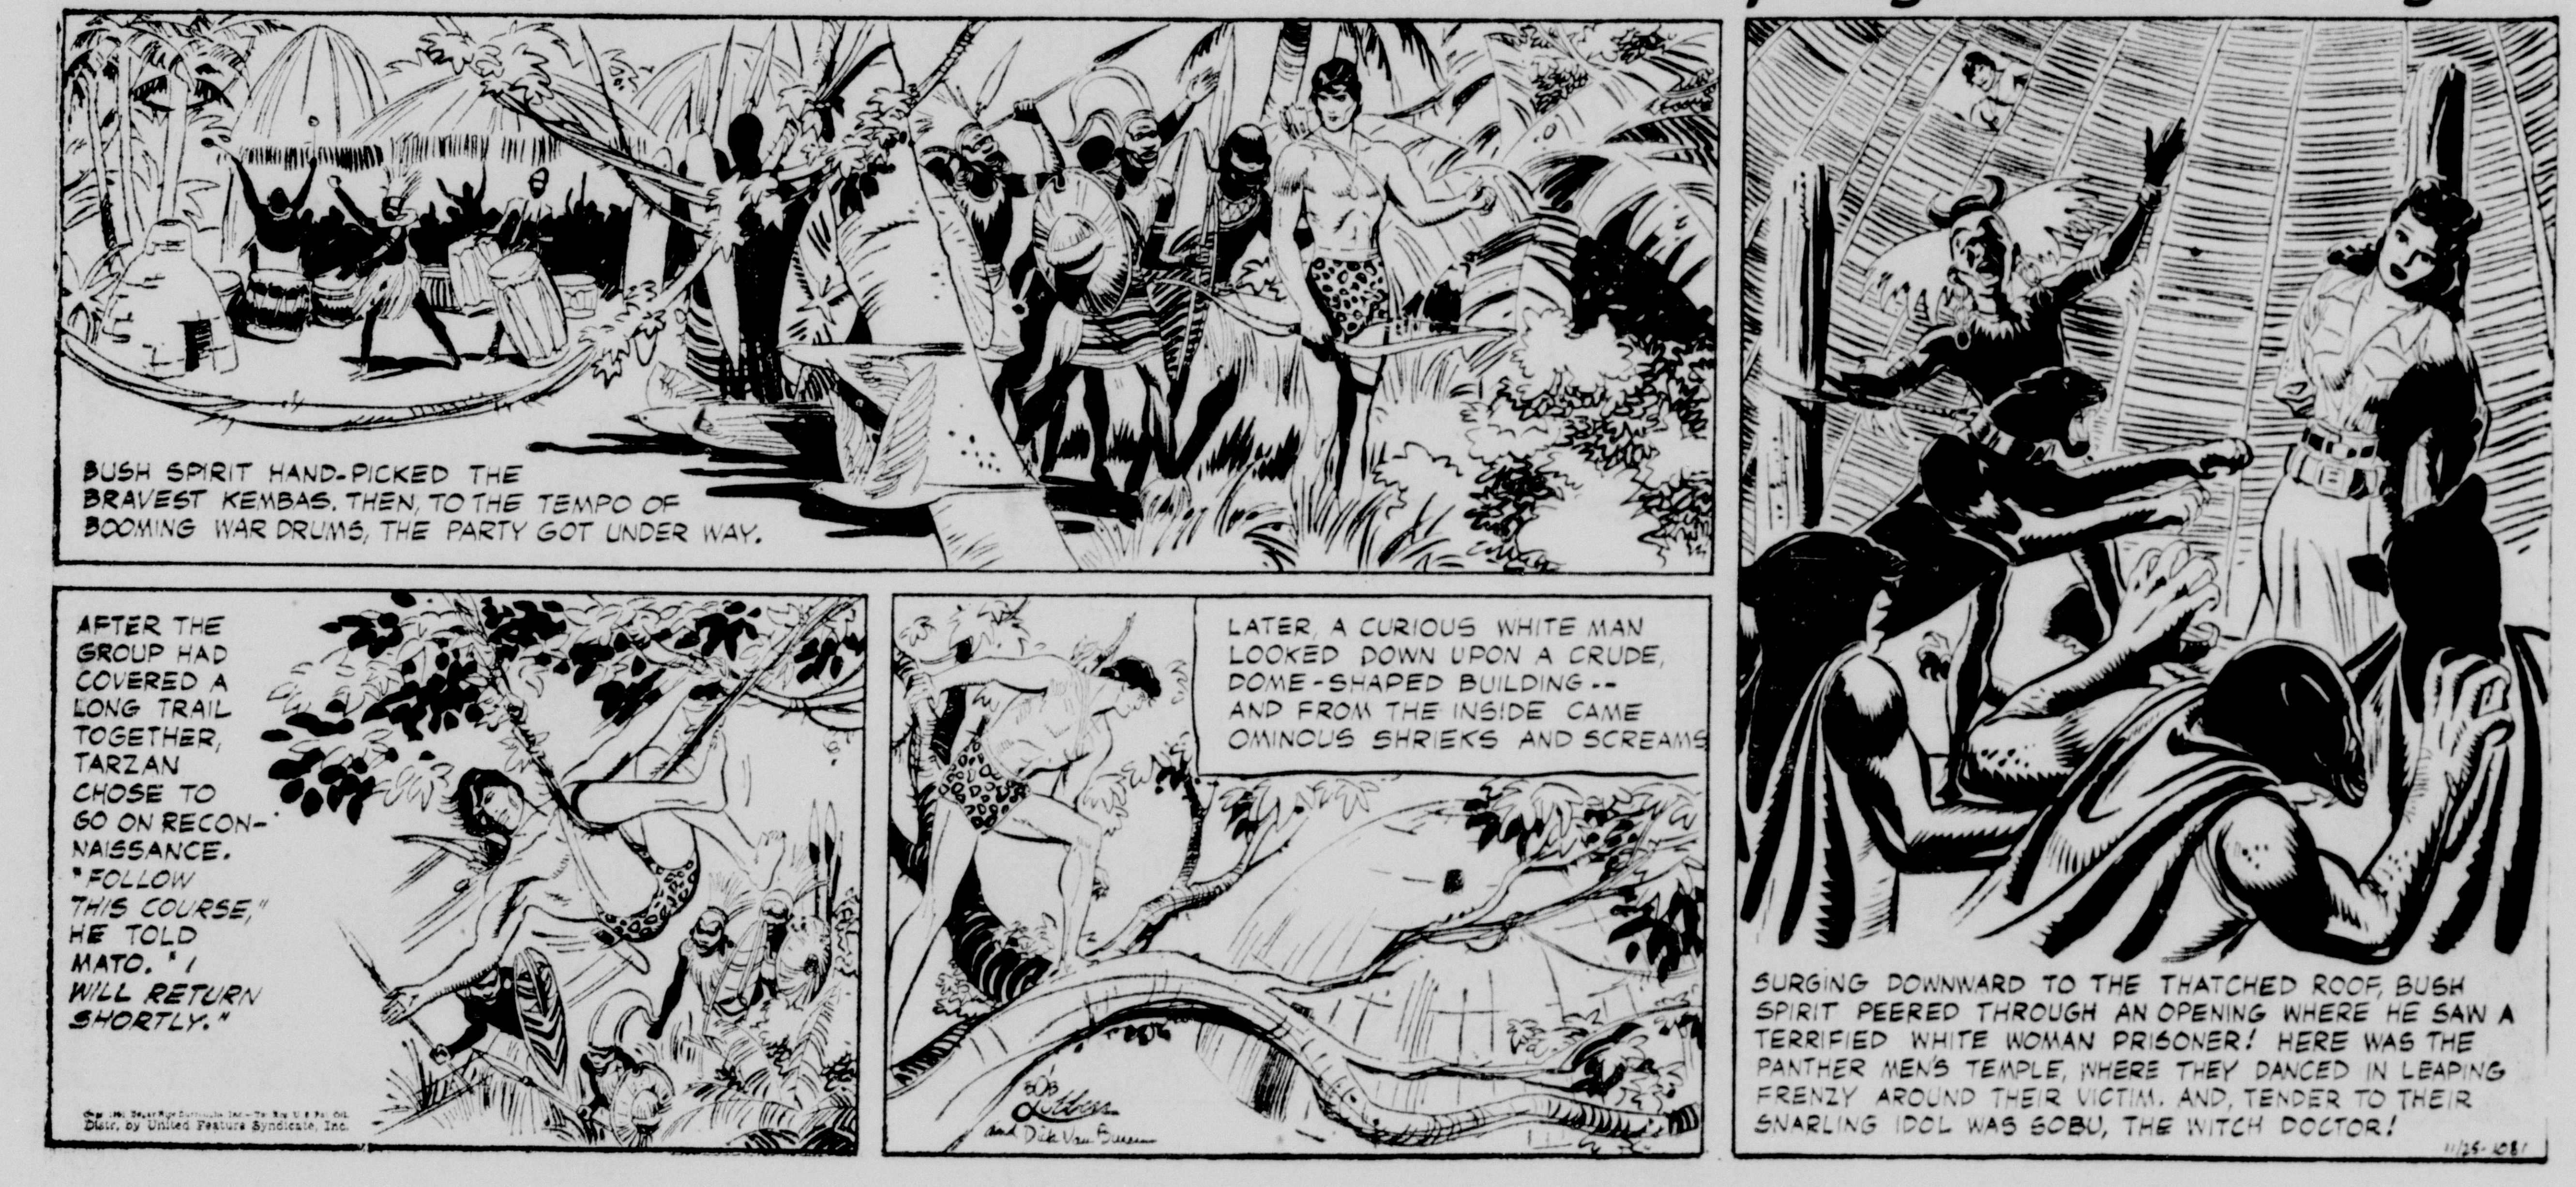
TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



BUSH SPIRIT HAND-PICKED THE BRAVEST KEMBAS. THEN, TO THE TEMPO OF BOOMING WAR DRUMS, THE PARTY GOT UNDER WAY.
AFTER THE GROUP HAD COVERED A LONG TRAIL TOGETHER, TARZAN CHOSE TO GO ON RECONNAISSANCE. "FOLLOW THIS COURSE," HE TOLD MATO. "I WILL RETURN SHORTLY."

LATER, A CURIOUS WHITE MAN LOOKED DOWN UPON A CRUDE, DOME-SHAPED BUILDING -- AND FROM THE INSIDE CAME OMINOUS SHRIEKS AND SCREAMS
Bob Lubbers and Dick Van Buren
SURGING DOWNWARD TO THE THATCHED ROOF, BUSH SPIRIT PEERED THROUGH AN OPENING WHERE HE SAW A TERRIFIED WHITE WOMAN PRISONER! HERE WAS THE PANTHER MEN'S TEMPLE, WHERE THEY DANCED IN LEAPING FRENZY AROUND THEIR VICTIM. AND, TENDER TO THEIR SNARLING IDOL WAS GOBU, THE WITCH DOCTOR!

BURIED ALIVE BY AN ICY SAND BLIZZARD, FLASH WORKS FRANTICALLY TO DIG A TUNNEL FROM THE TRAPPED SAND-CAR TO THE SURFACE OF THE DESERT. BUT HIS HAUGHTY PRISONER, QUEEN MENTA, IS IMPATIENT. "TELL ME OUR LOCATION," SHE ORDERS. "I'LL SEND A THOUGHT WAVE TO MY SLAVES TO COME AND RESCUE US."

BUT FLASH HAS NO INTENTION OF AGAIN BECOMING MENTA'S PRISONER. "I'D RATHER DIE FREE THAN LIVE AS YOUR SLAVE!" HE TELLS HER. "WE CAME HERE TO OFFER YOU PEACE WITH EARTH. YOUR PIRATES FAILED TO CONQUER US... AND YOU'LL FAIL, TOO!" THE QUEEN GASPS: "PIRATES, YOU SAY?!"

SUDDENLY THE TRUTH DAWNS ON MENTA. SHE SWITCHES ON THE SAND-CAR'S THOUGHT SCREENER. "LOOK AT THAT PICTURE," SHE EXCLAIMS! FLASH RECOGNIZES MENTA'S MIND-PICTURE AS HIS OLD FOE, TOXO THE PIRATE RAIDER. MENTA LAUGHS BITTERLY. "SO THOSE SPACE EXILES HEADED FOR EARTH WHEN I BANISHED THEM!"

"ENOUGH IDLE TALK," FLASH SAYS. "RIGHT NOW OUR JOB IS TO GET OUT OF THIS TOMB!" WITH LINC'S AID HE SWINGS THE SAND-CAR'S ENGINE AROUND SO THAT ITS EXHAUST VENT POINTS TOWARD THE SURFACE OF THE DESERT. "THIS IS GOING TO BE DANGEROUS," FLASH WARNS... "BUT IT'S OUR ONLY CHANCE!"
